Ambassador Knifed By Young Japanese

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer was reported recovering in a Tokyo hospital tonight from a stab wound in the right thigh inflicted by a Japanese youth who police said was mentally deranged.

Police said the assailant, Norikazu Shiotani, 19, was nearsighted and told them he wanted to protest because the United States and Japanese governments did not do enough for people with poor sight.

Admits Arson Attempt
The police said Shiotani had tried unsuccessfully earlier this year to set fire to a U.S. Embassy building to advance his

C-H Asks Lower Electric Rates, $600,000 Saving

Lower electric rates for residential customers were filed today with the New York State Public Service Commission, it was announced by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation. This rate reduction will be the third in four years initiated by Central Hudson for its residential electric customers.

May Start May 27
The new rate schedule, proposed to become effective May 27, would result in savings to customers of about $600,000 a year. Sillin noted that the utility had reduced rates for residence customers in July 1960, and again in December 1962. The total effect of the three rate reductions, he explained, would result in savings to Mid-Hudson Valley families of about $1,300,000 a year.

This year's reduction, Sillin said, is possible because of the company's continuing success in controlling and reducing operating expenses, improving efficiencies, and the recently enacted reduction of corporate federal income taxes.

Four PC Reduction
Under the new rates Central Hudson's typical residential customer's cost of electricity will be reduced about 4 per cent. To encourage greater use of the company's services, the rates for customers using major electric appliances will be reduced from 1.9c per kilowatt-hour to 1.75c. To make it more economical for customers to use electricity for total housecleaning purposes the rate for this service will be reduced from 1.9c to 1.5c per kilowatt-hour.

Sillin explained that the reduction will benefit all homes. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 8)

Internal Revenue Cancels Sale of Knaust Property

Internal Revenue Service announced that the property of Herman and Catherine Knaust, known as Stroomzeit at Saugerties has been redeemed, and the sale scheduled for today has been canceled.

On March 14 the IRS announced that the Saugerties showplace with approximately 73 acres had been seized pursuant to Section 6331 of the Internal Revenue Code for nonpayment of delinquent internal revenue taxes due from Mr. and Mrs. Knaust.

Sealed bids were scheduled to be opened at 10:30 a. m. today at the IRS Office, 59 North Front Street.

The Stroomzeit estate is situated on the west bank of the Hudson River on Route 9W, just north of the Village of Saugerties.

Influence Of Soviet Expanding Havana Is Loaded With Red Symbols

Editor's note—how Cuba looks to a European visitor is reported in this dispatch from one of a group of West German tourists who spent three weeks on the island. The writer is a picture editor in the Frankfurt bureau of The Associated Press.

By PETER HILLEBRECHT

HAVANA (AP)—A cool north-west wind sweeps a copy of the Moscow newspaper Izvestia under the feet of the few tourists on Cuba's famous Varadero Beach.

The heavy, choking odor of Russian tobacco hangs over leather chairs in the lobby of the Hotel Varadero Internacional. Through the swaying palms on a starlit March night, a huge red star blinks on the hotel roof.

On the eastern outskirts of Havana—in their own "ghetto" sky scraped—live Russian and East European technicians, engineers and experts.

Soviet Symbol
These are symbols of Soviet influence in Cuba. There are others—Communist trucks and buses, an occasional Soviet-made patrol boat equipped with rockets along the northern coast, Cuban soldiers and militiamen with East bloc weapons.

There is no doubt of the growing Communist influence. But Cuba does not give the same police state impression as, say, Communist East Berlin.

First in Long Time
It was the first assault on an American ambassador to Japan in more than a century of diplomatic relations.

The thin, sullen-faced youth climbed the embassy wall and plunged a six-inch blade into the 53-year-old ambassador as he came out of the embassy chancery on his way to lunch.

The ambassador was given blood transfusions to compensate for heavy loss of blood. After the wound was closed X rays were taken to determine whether the missing tip of the blade was lodged in the leg. The photographs did not show it.

Two Weeks to Heal
The head of the surgical team that operated on Reischauer, Dr. Ryoji Matsushita, told newsmen that unless there were complications, the 34-inch-deep wound should be healed in two weeks.

An official embassy statement issued by U.S. Minister John K. Emmerson termed the attack an erratic act "possible in any society."

Quick thinking and swift action by John Ferchak, 39, an official in the embassy's commercial section, may have saved Reischauer's life.

Ferchak, from Jersey City, N.J., heard Reischauer say, "Who is that man?" and then saw that he carried a knife. Grabbing Shiotani from the back, Ferchak pushed him to the floor, forced the knife from his hand, then called for help.

Tie Is Torn
Reischauer said, "I am bleeding, call a doctor." Ferchak helped him to a seat. Whipping off his tie, Ferchak used it as a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood, then got a scarf from one of the secretaries to make another tourniquet.

The ambassador, still conscious, was rushed to the hospital operating table. Three hours later his Japanese-born wife, Haru, issued a statement saying that her husband was "making a good recovery" and "was grateful for the 'warm and spontaneous sympathy' from everyone."

The 22-foot and variable-width pavement will be resurfaced with asphalt concrete. The estimated cost is $58,000. Bids will be received in Albany April 23.

Philip Brown of Abel Street was spokesman for the group. More than 30 attended the organizational meeting.

Election of permanent officers will be held at a future meeting to be announced. A field representative from CORE, New York City will also attend a future session to address the local group.

10-15 Age Group
The bill was one of many passed by the Legislature as it worked toward final adjournment, expected Wednesday. It would hold parents legally responsible for damages up to $250 caused by children 10 to 15 years of age. The family court would have jurisdiction.

A judge could require as an alternative that a child work off the penalty by doing chores for the owner of the damaged property.

Two bills intended to curb abuse of children by their parents or guardians also won unanimous Senate approval.

One would require doctors to report child abuse to the local welfare agency or the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The other would authorize welfare agencies to investigate such reports and act to protect the child.

Could Kick Self Now for Quitting Beatles for Money

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—"I could kick myself now," said Allan Abrahams, 19, Furman University freshman who quit the Beatles 11 months ago because he "wanted to make more money."

Abrahams, a native of London, said the entertainers "were not going anywhere at the time. I took a job with another group called the Rolling Stones."

Abrahams, in an interview with a college reporter Monday, said he is at Furman on a track scholarship.

General Serious But Not Fighting For Life: Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was reported in serious condition today.

The 84-year-old general underwent emergency surgery Monday night at Walter Reed Hospital.

This forenoon, Walter Reed spokesmen passed on this report from Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphy, hospital commandant:

In Recovery Room
"He (MacArthur) is cognizant of his surroundings. He is talking. But he is seriously ill."

The general remains in the recovery room where "all facilities for intensive care are available," the hospital spokesman said. Asked what it was meant, he agreed that it was where life-supporting equipment was immediately available.

MacArthur's family was at the hospital in the general's suite.

The general has an opening in his windpipe to aid in breathing, and a tube through his esophagus to retard bleeding there.

Col. Edward J. Costello, chief of information activities, said, "as of now his post-operative recovery has been good."

Asked if the general was "fighting for his life," Costello replied, "No, I would not say that. But his condition is serious."

MacArthur, who is 84, received 16 pints of blood in transfusions in connection with internal bleeding which required the emergency operation.

But doctors reported shortly afterward that he was holding up well.

Second Test Fails

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The second stage of a two-stage Thor-Delta missile failed to ignite today, ruining the second flight test of an Asset research vehicle. The flight was designed to test techniques for maneuverable astronaut vehicles of the future.

The rocket knifed upwards at 7:15 a.m. (EST) and officials said the thor-delta performed well during the burning time of the first stage. A few minutes later, they announced that the second stage did not ignite.

CORE Chapter Is Formed, Program Being Planned

The local chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) organized Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke of 18 Mill Street, announced a program to secure housing and jobs for negroes in the Kingston area.

Mrs. Bertha DeWitt of 18 Mill Street was named acting recording secretary and Mrs. Van Dyke, her husband is Sixth Ward alderman) was named acting president.

Philip Brown of Abel Street was spokesman for the group. More than 30 attended the organizational meeting.

Election of permanent officers will be held at a future meeting to be announced. A field representative from CORE, New York City will also attend a future session to address the local group.

Bill Would Hold Parents Responsible for Vandals

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Legislature has approved and sent to Gov. Rockefeller for signature a proposal that parents be held financially responsible for vandalism by their children.

The Senate Monday gave final passage to the Republican-sponsored bill. The vote was 38-19, with Democrats in opposition.

Board Passes Employees' Salaries, Hears Charges

Hoover Not Sure Yet On Meeting Teachers

Dr. W. Wendell Hoover said today that he didn't know as yet whether he would honor a request for a public "forum" from the Kingston Teachers Federation of 781, American Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO, to discuss current salary schedules in the Kingston Consolidated Schools.

The school superintendent confirmed that he had received a letter calling for a meeting with himself, the Federation and the Kingston Teachers Association, sometime after the Easter vacation. A similar letter was sent by Thomas Mannix, president of the Federation to Randolph Siegel, KTA president.

Dr. Hoover told The Freeman, "I don't know whether I will want to meet with them. I don't have enough information to make a decision at this time."

Probe Is Waning in Baker Case

Demos Mow Down Republican Aims

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bobby Baker probe may finally be heading into eclipse. Democrats have mowed down Republican demands for additional major witnesses and an accountant has abandoned his charge of income tax forgery.

The Democrats on the Senate Rules Committee overpowered the GOP minority Monday and refused to call White House aide Walter Jenkins, Democratic fund raiser Matt McCloskey and others to testify.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., said their testimony would be irrelevant or repetitive of what has been heard already in its investigation of Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Says Evidence Enough
The committee is exploring whether conflict of interest was involved as Baker, while a $19,600 a year Senate official, accumulated a fortune he estimated in excess of $2 million. The Democrats contend they have heard enough evidence already to provide the basis for a report to the Senate.

Jordan called the committee to another closed door meeting today to consider one by one witnesses the Republicans want called before the inquiry ends.

Whitewash, He Says
Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., predicted to a news conference that "the result will be the same whitewash."

"And from the same bucket," Scott added in bitter tones. He numbered the Republicans, outnumbered 6 to 3 on the committee, had been "chopped down" in Monday's voting and he thought the Democrats still were "honing the ax."

Milton L. Hauff, an accountant who charged last week that someone had forged his signature on some of Baker's income tax returns, visited the committee staff and abandoned the allegation. He told newsmen later the word "forgery" had been "an unfortunate choice of words" in the sworn statement (Continued on Page 8, Col. 7)

Mannix said that invitations were sent to Dr. Hoover and Siegel suggesting a meeting "soon after Easter vacation to discuss collective bargaining and professional negotiations." He said that the proposed forum would be open to the public and "full details will be announced as soon as plans are completed. Plans will be completed," he said, "as soon as we hear from Dr. Hoover."

Mannix, in his letter to the superintendent, said that the teachers who attended the March general meeting asked that the KTA and KTF sponsor a meeting to discuss the collective bargaining issue.

The Kingston Board of Education, by a 7-1 vote at its March 6 meeting, voted a raise for the teachers from $200 to $400 according to various steps,

Full Accord Likely On Cyprus Mediator

GENEVA (AP)—The Greek, Turkish and British governments today approved the nomination of former Finnish Premier Sakari S. Tuomioja as U.N. mediator for the Cyprus dispute.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant needed approval only from the feuding Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities before making the appointment, and this was expected because of the Greek and Turkish acceptance of Tuomioja.

Ready to Serve
The Finnish politician-diplomat, who is now his country's ambassador to Sweden, reportedly agreed to serve as mediator for the bitter dispute if all parties accepted him.

Thant asked the Cyprus government to consider Tuomioja after conferring with him for more than an hour Monday in Geneva, where the secretary-general is attending the U.N. Trade and Development Conference.

Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, Indian commander of the U.N. peace force being formed in Cyprus, sat in on the conference with the 52-year-old Finnish diplomat and economic expert. Tuomioja is now ambassador to Sweden.

Seize Diamond Dust

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Thieves smashed open a safe and stole over $80,000 worth of industrial diamond dust from a processing plant here.

Police said the thieves cracked a concrete top on the safe at the Diamond Reclamation Co. then drilled 67 holes to complete the safe opening Sunday night.

Charles Proudfoot, president of the firm, made the $80,000 estimate of the diamond dust.

over a two-year period. But it appeared that the teachers didn't want it—at least on the proposed basis.

In a follow-up meeting on March 10, the teachers attended a special meeting and voted to set up a series of new meetings between the Staff Salary Committee, Dr. Hoover and the Teachers Committee of the Board of Education.

"Since the teachers expressed an interest in such a meeting as soon as possible, we feel it necessary to sponsor a forum after the vacation," Mannix said. He said "it is the position of the KTF that some structure must be arrived at which will facilitate communication between the teachers and the Board of Education. We feel that this structure can best be gained by discussing possible alternatives."

Two Claim Suspension Injustice

Students Could Make Up Studies

Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston Schools Consolidated, today called charges by a local attorney that four suspended boy students were denied a hearing in the recent unsanctioned pupil publication case, a "distortion of fact."

Dr. Hoover replied to charges made by Attorney Robert A. Ronder at a meeting of the Board of Education on Monday night for the purpose of discussing salaries of all employees other than teachers "and any other business that may come before the meeting."

The board approved the non-teacher salary schedule for 1964-65, but not without some minor opposition from the board membership. And, there also was minor opposition from the board on the school publication case—known as the "SMOCK" suspension case.

Not Expelled
Dr. Hoover told The Freeman today that he wanted to make it clear that the students involved were not under expulsion from the school, but rather had been suspended to the end of the school term on July 1. He said the action was taken after an investigation and hearing by the Administration Council of the High School staff, and re-affirmed at a subsequent hearing for the boys. Dr. Hoover said that he was in complete agreement with the council's action, which he said, was unanimous.

Attorney Ronder, who appeared before the board Monday night, said that the suspended youths were subjected to "kangaroo court." He said the youths were suspended not given a proper hearing before the suspension was ordered, the punitive action was "excessive and presumptuous" and that by its action the school officials were "losing the respect of the people."

Harsh, Says Singer
Board member Bernie Singer, who said he originally thought that "the penalty levied was rather harsh and that the offense must have been very grave to merit such punishment," He said that investigation of the facts changed his opinion, and that "this transgression is not as serious as the public has been led to believe."

He said that "the punishment already meted out has served the purpose of illustrating right from wrong." He called for rescinding of the penalty imposed on the students and that "considerations for their futures must be demonstrated at once."

Dr. Hoover, who still declined to identify the pupils involved by name, said "notices" of the suspension action were sent to the youths' parents Monday. He gave The Freeman this version of the suspension action:

Adjudged Vulgar
He said that six pupils participated in production and dissemination of the publication which was entitled, "SMOCK." He said it was the observation by school officials that the publication contained "vulgarity." The school pupils allegedly involved were called into the administrative of-

JFK Half Dollars Start Circulation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millions of half-dollars bearing the likeness of John F. Kennedy go into circulation today through the Treasury in Washington and banks across the nation.

Twenty-six million of the new half-dollars are available for distribution and about 65 million more will be circulated before the end of the year. Unless Congress changes the law the mint will turn them out for 25 years or longer.

The 50-cent piece will replace the Benjamin Franklin half-dollar, which was minted from April 1948 until the end of last year. The first coins in the new series were struck Feb. 11 at the Denver and Philadelphia mints. The Kennedy coin was authorized by a law enacted last Dec. 30.

Kennedy's likeness—taken from the presidential medal—on the face of the coin and the familiar eagle, holding olive branch and arrows in its talons is on the back.

$25 Fines, Jail Sentences Given For Phone Rigging

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—It cost three Cornell University engineering students $25 each Monday for having rigged an electrical device to complete long-distance telephone calls free of charge. Two of the students also drew seven-day jail sentences.

The three had pleaded guilty March 3 to a reduced charge of disorderly conduct. Originally they were charged with fraudulent use of telephone equipment to avoid payment.

City Judge Edward J. Casey said Stuart S. Pattison, 22, of White Plains and Hoyt A. Stearns Jr., 19, of Arcadia, Calif., appeared to have been the instigators.

The judge said, in addition to paying the fines, the two also would have to serve the jail terms during the university's spring vacation, beginning next Monday. They were continued free on bail until then.

Seth J. Stowell, 20, of Troy, was fined only.

They were arrested Feb. 15 at their fraternity house during what police termed a demonstration of the device, which allegedly had been used to make about 150 long-distance calls.

Holstein Club Will Hold Banquet April 2

The annual Spring banquet of the Ulster-Sullivan-Orange Holstein Club will be held Thursday, April 2, at 7:30 p. m. in the New Hurley Reformed Church Hall, New Hurley. This is located on Route 208 a short distance north of Wallkill. A roast beef dinner will be served.

Special emphasis is placed on the junior people at this meeting. Tickets for these juniors will be priced at less than half the cost for adults. There will also be numerous awards for the juniors, including the awarding of a registered Holstein junior heifer calf donated by Leonard Baird of Chester.

The speaker of the evening will also be of particular interest to the juniors. Francis Kelsey, will show slides of a calf project which he accompanied to St. Vincent Island in the British West Indies.

Reservations must be made by March 30 to M. J. Smith, Olmstead Farm, Wallkill.

Beatles Win Award

LONDON (AP)—The British Song Writers Guild announced in London that its 1964 award for outstanding contributions to British popular and light music will go to John Lennon and Paul McCartney for their songs "She Loves You," "I Want to Hold Your Hand" and "All My Loving."

As if you didn't know—Lennon and McCartney are two of the four Beatles.

Stress in Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—After four months, some rumblings of stress and more change are audible in the top team President Johnson inherited from the late John F. Kennedy.

Pump press secretary Pierre Salinger quit on Thursday to test his charm on California voters, in quest of a U.S. Senate seat. He was fourth of leave the White House.

On the same day, a report was aired that Secretary of State Dean Rusk planned to resign in November. It was instantly denied by all concerned.

Medic Chides AMA for Smoke Warning Lack

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla. (AP)—A top-ranking surgeon said today the American Medical Association is derelict in its duty for failing to urge that all cigarette packages and advertising carry a health hazard warning.

Dr. Alton Ochsner, emeritus professor of surgery, Tulane University, and a pioneer in indicting cigarette smoking as a major cause of lung cancer, made the statement in addressing the sixth annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

He did so in commenting on a letter sent to the Federal Trade Commission recently by Dr. F.J.L. Blasingame, executive vice president of the AMA. In the letter, Dr. Blasingame said that Congress, not the FTC, should decide on any limitations on cigarette advertising, and that warning labels—as advocated by the FTC—would not do much good because people already are aware of the alleged hazards of smoking.

"Doctors should take the lead," said Dr. Ochsner. "This is a health problem."

Warned About Arms

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula has warned Angolan rebels seeking arms from Red China not to bring the cold war to Africa.

Adoula pledged continued support for the rebels, however, at a ceremony Sunday marking the third anniversary of the war against Portuguese rule being waged in Northern Angola.

Two Teeners Await Sentence For Murder, 2nd

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Two New York City teen-agers awaited sentence today after pleading guilty to reduced charges of second-degree murder in the holdup slaying of a 69-year-old woman.

Paul Martin and Nathan Giles, both 16, entered their pleas Monday before they were to go on trial in Columbia County Court on charges of first-degree murder. Judge William F. Christiana set April 1 for sentencing.

The boys were accused of stabbing to death Mrs. Harriet Hoyt in her Manhattan apartment last March. Their trial was transferred to Columbia County because a television station broadcast an interview with the boys during their arrest.

Strange Horse Trade

HALEAH, Fla. (AP) — When Becky McDonald, 11, told horse show attendants here she got her horse at the Ford Motor Company in Eustis, she wasn't joking.

Becky's father traded a shiny red convertible for the horse, a sorrel gelding named Apache, about five years ago. The horse's show record proves it was a good trade.

Quilty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Quilty; Stephen Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kennedy and Steven Dittus, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dittus. The Kennedy boys are brothers. Eaton is president of the local insurance agency. All of the youngsters received a Savings Bond.

Youngsters Get Bonds, Located Stolen Property

That "honesty is the best policy" was emphasized pleasantly to a group of six local boys last week by Herman J. Eaton, CLU, president of the Herman J. Eaton Agency Inc. of 261 Fair Street and John Levy, CPCU, vice president of the local insurance organization.

The beginning of the incident that brought a reward of a Savings Bond to each of the six youngsters from the Herman J. Eaton Agency, occurred Feb. 17 with a burglary at the residence of Dr. Maurice H. Silk, of 81 Main Street. At the time the Silk residence was closed for vacation. The Eaton Agency was the insuring organization for the local doctor.

That same day the six boys made a discovery, notified the police, and their cooperative effort led to the recovery of stolen property and the resultant emphasis upon the subject of honesty.

This is what happened, in the words of Kevin Quilty, 13, spokesman for the group:

"We were having a rope swing in Hudela's yard, and they thought it was too dangerous. So we went over to Minasian's yard on Linderman Avenue," said Quilty.

"On our way to Minasian's we came to where the cliff sort of overhangs the road, (Noone's Lane) and we saw a yellow wastebasket there. We looked closer and saw some stuff behind it," continued young Kevin.

The "stuff" turned out to be silverware, old coins, bottles of liquor, rings and other assorted items.

"We went to Brian's home, (Minsian's) and told about what we'd found, and they called a detective who came and took the stuff away."

This was Kevin Quilty's account of the finding of the "treasure." At the time, the boys were not aware of its origin, but they realized "that the stuff had been stolen" and they played the role of good citizens and notified the authorities.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins, yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Check with your doctor. He may tell you that your worn-out feeling can be due to a shortage of iron.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because GERITOL not only contains 7 vitamins but, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver!

Seven times the iron in a pound of spinach! It is this rich source of iron, that makes GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream beginning to carry strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests!

Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement. Remember, vitamins alone can't do it! But GERITOL, with its rich source of iron, can help you regain your strength and energy.

Check with your doctor and if iron-poor blood is your problem, you should take fast-acting GERITOL every day. Feel stronger fast—in just 7 days—or your money back from the maker. Get high-potency GERITOL, liquid or tablets, today!

A "TAX" SUGGESTION

Now that the "tax" cut has been officially put into law, we'll all find ourselves with a little more "take-home pay" each week.

Here's a suggestion!

Why not open a savings account at "Ulster County Savings?" And don't think it's not worth it. You'll be pleasantly surprised how fast the money multiplies.

For example, $5.00 a week drawing our big 4 1/4% dividend will be worth $265.60 at the end of a year; $1447.74 at the end of five years and $3236.13 at the end of ten years.

So you see — it does add up. Furthermore, if you consider that it's extra money you didn't have before — you won't even miss it.

At least — give it a try. As we said — you'll be surprised next year at this time.

BURGLARIES, RACKETEERS, SWINDLES

The rising volume of robberies in Hudson Valley communities calls for extra precaution upon the part of local residents.

One of the most recent occurrences was the theft of some $300 from a local woman by two men who told her they had been ordered to shut off her water service.

Police authorities have warned local residents not to admit persons into their homes without convincing credentials. Recently entrance to homes has been sought by individuals claiming to be working on various kinds of surveys.

Residents of the area also are warned about the rackets and swindles that bloom in the spring and find victims here and in adjoining communities.

Schemes for victimizing the public have grown markedly in number and swindlers are "utilizing new formats and variations on old schemes in their attempts to attract the wary."

When Mark Twain wrote about a Mississippi swindle which was "without a compeer among swindles," he went on to say that "It was perfect, it was rounded, symmetrical, complete, colossal." Such eulogistic terms could hardly be used in describing the swindle which today seems to be without equal. It is silly, it is stupid, obvious, illogical. But it works like a charm.

It is the old racket, usually worked with a woman as the victim, which begins with the story that the swindlers have found a large sum of money. They offer to split it with the victim, but want her to produce a substantial sum of cash as "security" or to prove her "good faith." Time and time again, wonder of wonders, the victim goes to a bank and draws out her savings and hands the money over to these strangers, then awaits eagerly while they go to get her share of the money, which supposedly has been found. Eagerly she awaits at first, then anxiously, and at last knowingly.

Consider the simple questions which would expose the swindle immediately to its intended victim. Why should strangers offer to give one money, even if they did find it? Why shouldn't they simply vanish into the crowd, to keep their find for themselves? If one can believe that they have money to give away to a stranger, why should they want more money to show good faith? Perhaps the answer to all these questions, and the explanation of the success of this moth-eaten old hoax, is that a person who will believe that money can be had for nothing will believe anything.

A THOUGHT FOR CASEY

America owes that famous railroad engineer Casey Jones—or at least his memory—one of those clever "Oops, I forgot!" birthday cards.

For the 100th anniversary of his birth was allowed to slip by March 14 with little or no recognition, despite the fact that practically no one ever gained such fame from an accident in which only one life was lost.

As almost everyone knew at one time or another, Casey Jones died at the throttle of his Illinois Central locomotive in an accident at Vaughan, Miss., April 30, 1900. He was immortalized through a song written by T. Lawrence Seibert and Eddie Newton.

Chances are their birthdays were forgotten, too. Such is fame.

A BIG FAIR CHEESE

The big news from Wisconsin—aside from the fact that the Alabama governor has been politicking there lately—is that a 17-ton cheddar cheese has been dispatched to the New York World's Fair. Any way you look at it, this is a large hunk of cheese.

The statistics are impressive. A day's average milk output of some 16,000 cows—700,000 quarts of it—was used to make the cheese. The outlay for producing, transporting and showing the giant wheel is about $140,000. That comes to more than four dollars a pound, which is expensive even for Wisconsin cheddar.

This brings us to the big cheese question.

REQUIEM FOR A BRAVE WIFE

It is an old axiom of foreign offices that one should not base policy on the testimony of emigres. This is one of those bits of conventional wisdom that must stand or fall on the nature of the emigre in question, and it can be often wrong. At the moving funeral services held in New York last week for the late Iona Fabian, wife of the grimly dedicated Hungarian Freedom Fighter Bela Fabian, there must, for example, have been at least twenty refugees from Central Europe who are always ahead of Washington in knowing what is going on behind the Iron Curtain.

I know whereof I speak, for it was Bela Fabian and his Iona and their friends who first revealed the outlines of Khrushchev's coming troubles with the 1963 Soviet wheat crop. Exiled from Hungary, the Fabians had nevertheless managed to keep in close contact with what has been going on both in their homeland and among the thousands of Hungarians who were exiled to Soviet Kazakhstan after the failure of the 1956 revolution in Budapest. Somehow the prophetic letters from Kazakhstan were smuggled through last summer; they told of Russian peasant slow-downs and quiet sabotage of Khrushchev's wheat programs. And what one might hear at the UN about the latest turn of anti-Semitism in present-day Russia would be old stuff to anyone who had listened between mouthfuls of chicken paprika at Iona Fabian's hospitable table.

I happened to have had a luncheon date of some two weeks' standing with Bela Fabian for the day which was tragically destined for Iona's funeral. Naturally there was no luncheon. But Bela Fabian insisted on meeting later in the day. He had some information he wanted to impart bearing on Khrushchev's inability to face a war in 1964, and he was sure in his own mind that Iona would have wanted him to keep the date. He, the survivor of the Nazi concentration camp at Auschwitz and a Communist World War I prison camp in Siberia, told me of the compact he had made with his wife. "If I should die," she had said to him "You must continue. If you die, I will continue."

Bela Fabian will continue to the crack of doom, for he has been tempered in more adversity than most people now living. Even so, it will be hard without Iona at his side. She spent her lifetime battling Red terrors, White terrors, and Brown Nazi terrors. Her 1924 wedding in the Dobanay Street Temple in Budapest, which was attended by some twenty thousand people, was held in defiance of threats that the synagogue would be bombed, for her husband-to-be was both a democrat and Jew.

At a women's international peace conference held in 1938 at Stockholm, the pacifists were carrying the day with their talk that anything would be preferable to a war in which Hitler, as they mistakenly predicted, would make free use of a superiority in poison gases. Iona Fabian turned the tide by convincing the waverers that war would come anyway, and would be much the worse for everyone. If they showed any tendency toward cowardice. The war did come, and in 1943 Iona Fabian set up a hospital at the pleading of the Jewish War Veterans organization for 1,100 forced laborers who had contracted typhus at the Hungarian-Russian front. She recruited 117 girls, Christians as well as Jews, to serve as nurses. With their heads shaved to circumvent disease-carrying lice, the nurses and Iona Fabian helped the doctors save all but nine of the typhus cases. In the last stages of the war, when her husband was seized and imprisoned by the Nazis, Iona Fabian joined the underground.

The Fabians were united in Paris after the war. Bela had made a providential escape from his captors at the time of General Patton's wide penetration of Germany, and Iona had survived three years of the Russian occupation of Hungary. Safe, but only relatively safe, in New York (Iona Fabian became quite accustomed to telephone threats on her husband's life), the Fabians fought to shame the West because of the sell-out of Eastern Europe at Yalta.

It's been a good fight, and Bela Fabian will carry it on. But it will be a lonely task without a wife who never urged the claims of safety upon him.

Dark Blotches on Skin
Aren't Removed by Drugs

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—How can I fade dark blotches on my skin? How can I whiten my skin?

A—To whiten the skin you must avoid the direct rays of the sun. If dark blotches remain, I know of no drug that can be used to remove them. This leaves you the option of applying masking creams if you consider the blotches unsightly. When such creams are skillfully applied the results can be very good. A white base should be applied first over the area to be covered. After this a mixture of red and yellow toning cream should be rubbed in to make the covered area blend with the surrounding skin and give it a flesh color.

Q—My husband is allergic to ant bites. What can he do for it?

A—Although the so-called biting ants use their jaws to hold onto a victim's skin, they inflict their wounds by inserting a stinger and discharging a venom. This has been found not to be formic acid as was once supposed.

Using his head as a pivot, an ant may make two or three stings in the same area. For an allergic reaction, epinephrine or any of a number of antihistaminic drugs may be used; but they will not prevent the formation of blisters or pustules at the site of the sting. These can be treated with antibiotics or by the local application of antibiotics or steroid hormones.

There are several species of stinging ants, the worst of which are the fire ants. Because in an allergic person a sting sometimes results in a very severe reaction, every effort should be made to avoid these stings.

Q—I have had trouble swallowing for a long time, but in the last two months I have hardly been able to eat anything. My doctor thinks it is psychosomatic. What do you think?

A—There may be many causes for your condition. If you have injured your esophagus by swallowing lye, you will have a constricting scar that would make swallowing difficult. A tumor of the esophagus itself or a tumor pressing on it from the outside could be a cause.

In some persons the cause is an esophageal outpouching which, when it becomes filled with food, blocks the passage. Some forms of paralysis involving the muscles of the throat interfere with the act of swallowing. Such a paralysis may be due to myasthenia gravis, poliomyelitis, lead poisoning, botulism, brain fever and diphtheria. Sometimes swallowing is avoided because it is painful. Emotional or psychosomatic disturbances must also be considered but not without a careful X-ray examination to show whether there is any obstruction.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Is it just going to sit there, looking enormously appetizing, or it is going to be served up to hungry fair-goers? We'd like to see it served, but even that big a cheese would go fast. The thing to do is to have a couple of cheeses in reserve.

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—If the Congress and President Johnson want to save money, there's a door open to them.

Some key management officials in the U. S. government privately estimate there's between $500 million and $1 billion dollars a year of inefficiency and overlap in the administration of the federal government in Washington. They assert:

There is no uniform system of accounting throughout the major departments and agencies.

Keeping separate personnel and pay records is wasteful duplication. These could be combined on modern computers. Such a system, adopted throughout the government, could save hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

A SYSTEM OF MEASURING management productivity could be worked out and placed on computers. It could be used to "flag" divisions doing outstanding jobs and those doing less well. Techniques of the successful managers could be passed on to the less successful.

In some cases, of course, it would mean firing or transferring less successful men. In other cases, investigation would prove the machines wrong. The Billy Sol Estes scandal shook the Department of Agriculture and led Secretary Orville Freeman to set up an independent inspector-general system responsible only to him. There's need, these management men say, of such a powerful independent civilian system in the State and Defense departments and other major agencies.

WHEN NEW, IMPORTANT job openings crop up, there's no adequate way to find the best-suited men. A government-wide computer system could cull out the dozen, two dozen or so men best qualified wherever they worked. Then the administrators could make their selection.

As things are now, these management men say, if the State Department has need of a highly qualified man who may be working in Interior, say, it's likely he won't be discovered.

Each department obtains its own computers, adopts its own systems. Systems used in one agency don't mesh with those in another.

AS IT IS, ONLY A HANDFUL of the 1,300 computers bought by the government have actually resulted in a decrease in manpower.

The management men say there is need for a central bureau to institute efficiencies government-wide.

This central bureau would take better methods used by one department, get them adopted by others and push adoption of uniform systems through the government where such uniformity could lead to cheaper machine operation.

Where the failure lies is not clear. Some management men put their finger on the Budget Bureau.

Presidents Can Talk About Wages, Prices Just as Plea

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has done what his predecessors did — make speeches to labor unions urging them not to bring on any "wage-price spirals." But insofar as enforcing this viewpoint is concerned, every time a Chief Executive addresses a big labor union the government subsequently presents the image of a helpless bystander.

President Johnson in his address yesterday to the convention at Atlantic City of the United Automobile Workers of America said that avoiding the wage-price spiral is "the responsibility of business and it is also the responsibility of labor." He added: "the international position of the dollar . . . demands that our prices and our costs not rise."

But the UAW, in a statement just a few days ago, pointed out that the union doesn't think the pay-benefit gains which it seeks would necessarily increase prices because, it contended, the auto corporations had record profits and rising productivity.

While Mr. Johnson urged that "restraint" be exercised by both sides at the bargaining table next July and declared that the public interest requires stability of costs and prices, there is no law by which the government at present can insure that its viewpoint will be respected.

The Kennedy Administration, of course, intervened to prevent a price increase in steel and claimed to have previously influenced the labor side. But the management of the steel companies had to pay wage increases just the same.

The advisers of the late President Kennedy thought they had introduced a new approach when it was announced that certain "guidelines" would be set to restrain both sides. Wage increases would be granted on the basis of certain gains in productivity. But the labor unions, after a brief acquiescence in the idea soon discarded it as impracticable, primarily because it interfered with their own freedom of action in demanding wage benefits.

For all practical purposes, government intervention is confined at present to exhortations being given both sides to be careful and restrained. But when a labor union is as influential politically as the United Auto Workers — which indirectly plays a big part in political campaigns — it isn't likely that President Johnson, or any other Democratic President, will disagree with the policy in collective bargaining negotiations. Mr. Johnson, at the Atlantic City labor meeting, voiced a sentiment often expressed but little practiced when he said:

"I am here to tell you that we are going to do those things which need to be done, not because they are politically correct, but because they are right."

Mr. Johnson's speech to the Auto Workers union dealt only to a small extent with labor union matters. He talked about economic legislation pending before Congress, "the war on poverty," the Federal budget, economic conditions, medical care and other issues of general importance. He dealt with the labor-union matters briefly, and disavowed any intention of interfering in labor disputes. He said:

"This Administration has not undertaken, and will not undertake to fix prices and wages in this economy. We have no intention of intervening in every dispute. We are neither able or willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at the local bargaining tables across the country. We can suggest guidelines for the economy, but we cannot fix a single pattern for every plant and every industry. We can and we must, under the responsibilities given to us by the Constitution and by statute, and by necessity, point out the national interest, and, where applicable, we can and we must, and we will, enforce the law on restraints of trade and national emergencies."

"The words I have just read are the words of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, spoken to this same great convention on May 8, 1962. It was the policy of this government then, it is the policy of this government today."

The speech referred to was delivered a month after Mr. Kennedy had intervened to compel the steel companies to rescind their price increase. What it all amounts to is a refusal on the part of national administrations to intervene in the far-reaching process of fixing the wage costs which inevitably affect prices.

Speeches by Presidents will be heard again and again calling on both sides to be "restrained" and to consider the "public interest." But as long as there is no law on the subject, it is unlikely that the American economic system will ever be kept from indulging in wide swings, bringing a series of recessions and recoveries as labor and management fight it out in full sight of the government, but without any supervision in regard to the economic welfare of the entire country.

Station Agent Stops 17-Car Freight Runaway

POMEROY, Wash. (AP) — A string of 17 freight cars broke loose from a Union Pacific switch engine in this small southeast Washington community Monday night, sparking a 16-mile chase by railroad workers and law enforcement officers.

Washington State Police said the empty cars reached speeds of 50 to 60 miles per hour before Pomero depot agent Bill McCrea managed to halt them at Starbuck, Wash.

McCrea chased the runaway cars in his auto, passed them, stopped his car, then jumped aboard after the train slowed to about 20 miles an hour. He stopped it by setting hand brakes on the cars.

Mrs. Johnson Is to Get Close Look at Moon Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson flies south today to get a close look at preparations for America's man-on-the-moon project.

At the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., the President's wife was to don a hard hat and watch from a protective bunker as rocket engines are test fired.

Ready for her inspection were exhibits of everything from space suits and wind tunnels to a giant mock-up of the tail section of the Saturn V. That's the rocket whose five F1 engines will produce 7.5-million pounds of thrust to help get a man to the moon before 1970.

The dawn-to-dusk, jam-packed schedule is a grueling one for the 51-year-old First Lady. It includes three speeches.

Mrs. Johnson reserved a noon-time respite period, though, for a very personal reunion with 37 of her Alabama kintfolk. The First Lady's mother and father, the late Thomas Jefferson and Minnie Pattillo Taylor, were born in Autauga County, Ala. She invited those of her relatives who remain in the area to join her for a brief visit.

Old as the Hills

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A worker conducting an unofficial census for the city stopped at one home and asked the woman her name. "Matilda Brown," she replied. "And your age?" the man asked. "Did the Hill sisters Matilda wanted to know. "No," replied the official. "Well, said Matilda, 'I'm the same age they are.'"

Real Control Lacking

Johnson Nudging Business, Labor to Keep Prices Down

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration, lacking control over prices and wages, is trying in a gingerly way to nudge business and labor into keeping them down.

At the same time, President Johnson has urged Congress to vote a $545-million pay raise for 1.7 million government employees, even if the 535 Congress members hesitate to include themselves in the increase.

Johnson and his economic advisers, walking tightrope in this prickly field where the government has no authority to forbid, are not telling business and labor flatly there should be no boosts.

What they seem to be saying in their anti-inflation efforts, often using a rather foggy prose, is that there should be no price-wage increases unless they are justified.

Always an Argument
This leaves the door ajar, although Johnson can't do more than this, since a businessman anxious to raise a price or a union bent on higher wages will always argue a justification.

This is exactly what Johnson himself does in proposing an increase in government pay. He says failure to increase it would make more difficult the task of recruiting and keeping top flight people in government.

Two weeks ago in Congress, the House appeared to be in a rush to raise government salaries, including a $10,000 addition to the $22,500 now paid all members of House and Senate, a 44 per cent increase.

Every time one of its members sought to block this increase, the House brushed it aside, or rather it did the fast brushing so long as they were not voting in a roll call where each member's vote would be listed by name.

Roll Call Did It

But when a roll call was forced on them, they suddenly killed the whole pay raise notion, for themselves and everybody else, by a vote of 222 to 184.

A few days later, Johnson wrote a letter to House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., proposing the House start all over again and raise government salaries.

He said Congress' hesitancy to give itself a raise was no reason for not giving the other federal employees a boost.

Every year, one of the most incoherent, sometimes most incomprehensible, pieces of writing is contained in the annual report of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, issued in January.

This year the council noted that in the past three years there has been an "unusual degree of price stability" although a "somewhat upward drift in the prices of final purchases."

But, it said, from the beginning of 1962 to the end of 1963, prices had gone up only 4 per cent. It urged stability this year, without saying that there should be no increases at all.

To Give Emphasis

It said the administration "will not hesitate to call public attention to major private decisions—by either business or labor—that seriously overstep noninflationary price and wage standards."

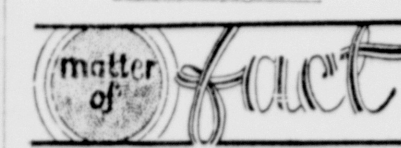

"It is the responsibility—and the determined purpose—of the administration to do all it properly can, to promote the right outcome."

Johnson tried to do some of this promoting Monday in a speech to the United Automobile Workers Union in convention at Atlantic City, N.J. The UAW will soon be in new contract negotiations with the automakers.

Won't Fix Prices

He warned against a price-wage spiral, but explained: "This administration has not undertaken and will not undertake to fix prices and wages in this economy. We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute."

And while Johnson was talking in Atlantic City the chairman of his economic council, Walter Heller, was out in Detroit telling the Economic Club there: "It would be less than prudent not to keep an eye cocked on the price-wage front."

Hereditary mechanism mysteriously provides that there shall be approximately equal numbers of males and females. However, in all races of mankind, more boys than girls are born — between 107 and 104 boys to 100 girls. There is a correspondingly higher mortality rate among males both before birth and throughout life.

HOBBS, N. M. (AP) — When Richard Ridgway, who is in the electrical appliance business in Hobbs, went to Colorado on a hunting trip, he took with him his daughter's horse Skeeter. On the way home, Ridgway and his party stopped in Ruidoso and all the horses were turned into a corral for the night. About 3 a. m. the next morning Ridgway decided to go home. He went to the corral with an old flashlight and a feed bag in his hand. One white-marked horse stuck his nose in the feed bag, so Ridgway took him home. Sure enough, his daughter informed him it wasn't her horse. Ridgway had left Skeeter and brought home an animal owned by a Ruidoso banker.

Pine Street Man Held on Story of 19-Year-Old Girl

John K. Carchidi, 20 of 8 Pine Street, was arrested Monday afternoon by Detective Gurnsey Burger on a first degree rape charge.

Police allege a 19-year-old girl was involved. The arrest followed an investigation.

City Judge Joseph D. Sacco today adjourned hearing until Wednesday to permit the defendant time to obtain Counsel. No bail was fixed and Carchidi was returned to jail after city court appearance this morning. A police record notes he is unemployed.

By F. T. MACFEELEY
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A sniper's bullet killed a Negro woman and three men were wounded by gunfire Monday night, bringing tragedy into continued racial violence in and around Jacksonville.

A gun fired from a passing car brought death to Johnnie Mae Chappell, 36, mother of several children. She was shot as she walked along U.S. 1, northwest of the city limits.

Two white men and a Negro man were shot and wounded, none seriously.

The shootings and at least 10 fire bombings came while a parade of young Negroes went before City Judge John Santora and, in most cases, headed for $25 fines and seven-day terms at the city prison farm.

Virtually all the 140 defendants, arrested during a day of hit-and-run demonstrations and defiance of police orders to disperse, were charged with unlawful assembly.

More than 80 juveniles also were taken into custody. Those whose parents came for them were handed over.

The place where the violence first flared is an ancient two-story wooden building in a Negro section which houses a campaign sub-headquarters of Mayor Haydon Burns. He is one of six Democrats seeking the nomination for governor in May.

A fire there Monday night was the result of rags piled at the rear of the building and ignited, firemen said. Damage was estimated at $200. Sunday night, three kerosene filled bottles were smashed against the building but flames only scorched the structure.

Negroes were aroused against the mayor by a message he delivered on television and radio Saturday night pledging to halt selective sit-in demonstrations at downtown restaurants and hotels which have not integrated.

H. F. Branch, assistant police chief, said groups of Negroes began congregating in downtown Hemming Park in mid-morning Monday, and police moved them along several times but without making any arrests.

When the number grew to about 350, Branch said officers warned them to leave or be arrested. Those who didn't leave were taken into custody, he said.

Some of those who left congregated again at a Negro housing development—several blocks away, but the group was broken up with more arrests.

Then groups of Negroes started going through Negro schools, gaining in size, Branch said. The largest number of arrests came at that stage.

A police detail forced its way into the headquarters office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and took several adults and juveniles into custody.

Branch said they had been throwing bottles and other objects from the second-floor NAACP office onto cars driving along Broad Street in front of the building.

To Close DeWitt Street
Police headquarters was notified today that DeWitt Street is to be closed to traffic pending repair of a manhole. It is to remain closed, starting at 1 p. m. this date to Friday morning. The street extends from Abel Street near the railroad bridge to a dead end.

$740 Cash, $450 In Clothing Taken At Tropical Inn

At 11:30 p. m. Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nuzzo returned to their apartment back of Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, they discovered the premises had been entered during their absence and money and clothing valued at some $1,200 was missing.

Tropical Inn is closed Mondays and the proprietors, Robert Nuzzo and Vincent Leone, were not on the premises during the night. Nuzzo and his wife left their apartment at Tropical Inn, which they are now furnishing, about 6:30 p. m. for dinner and to attend the movies. On their return they found the bedroom of the apartment had been ransacked and $630 in cash and three men's suits valued at $150 each had been taken.

A small safe in the office had been turned over on the floor and an attempt to "peel" the door had been made. A considerable amount of money from the weekend business was in the safe. The burglars were unsuccessful in opening the safe.

After ransacking the bedroom the burglars also entered the bar where the cigarette machine and two cash registers were rifled of some $110 in cash. Before leaving the bar the burglar or burglars poured themselves a drink of wine and after emptying the bottle took two glasses and the empty bottle to the bar.

Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriff Ronald Dietz and Albert Wolven are investigating. Entrance to the premises was made by forcing a rear door to a laundry and forcing entrance to the apartment and bar. The exit was apparently made through the kitchen door, which was left open.

Indications point to the fact that the burglars also entered the kitchen of the restaurant. One of the refrigerator doors was left open. The bedroom occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Nuzzo is the only room in the apartment which is furnished at the present time. They recently moved in and the apartment is presently being painted and made ready for occupancy, Mayone said.

Buflino Counsel Fights to Stave Off Deportation

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Counsel for Russell Buflino, 60, of Pittston, Pa., has filed a motion to subpoena the Philadelphia heads of several investigative agencies in a fight to save his client from deportation.

Buflino, who lists his occupation as "dress expediter" in a Kingston, Pa., textile business, has been ordered deported to Italy for illegal immigration to this country in 1914.

He has been implicated in the 1957 Apalachin, N. Y., crime convention and was accused by Joseph Valachi, underworld informer testifying before a U.S. Senate subcommittee last year, of membership in the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate.

At hearings Monday, Buflino's attorney, Jack Wasserman, asked the court to subpoena heads of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, the Bureau of Narcotics, the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He will speak and show slides on the trip he took to Europe last year with the People to People tour. He covered many countries, including Russia.

Shaul is one of New York State's outstanding farmers. He was one of 14 U.S. farmers to receive the coveted 1964 Ford Motor Company's Farm Efficiency Award.

Ulster County Farm Bureau President Robert Davenport hopes for a large attendance of Farm Bureau members and their guests.

Dad Will Appeal, Slugged Principal In Haircut Dispute

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP)—A father convicted of slugging a high school principal over the question of approved haircuts planned two appeals today—one to the State District Court and the other to sympathetic parents.

George Mouton, a service station operator, was convicted Monday of slugging John McGraw, principal of the New Iberia High School, on March 17.

Mouton was annoyed because his son, Glenn, 15, has been sent home earlier in the day with orders to stay there until his haircut satisfied school authorities.

The question of how long is a haircut has been simmering for some time. To the rule that pupils cannot have long hair, parents claimed an attempt was being made to have everyone wear a crew cut.

Mouton asked all persons who backed his ideas on the matter to appear before the Iberia Parish (County) School Board next month to thresh out the matter.

Board Passes

fices and admitted their role in the production of the publication.

Hoover said the High School Administrative Council, elected representatives of the school staff including representatives of the guidance staff and department chairmen, met with Principal Dan Allen and other school officials and voted unanimously to take suspension action. Two of the six youths originally suspended were re-instated last week. They were not involved in the "serious counts" and had nothing to do with the articles written in the publication, he said. However, he said, the youths involved asked Principal Allen for permission to meet before the Council to make further statements. The superintendent said the permission was granted, the meeting was held with the youths present, and that subsequently the Council re-affirmed its unanimous vote to uphold the suspension action.

Tells of Procedure
Referring to Ronder's "distortion of truth—a distortion of fact," Hoover said that the "facts" were that: The boys were called in "one by one according to evidence as to how they were involved," they were suspended to July 1; they asked and received permission to appear before the Administrative Council; they were questioned by and gave answers to the Council, which called a meeting to reconsider its action and again voted unanimously to uphold the suspension decision.

Dr. Hoover characterized the youths' reaction to the incident as "apologetic." It appeared to be with this attitude that parents of the youths made sincere appeals to school administrators to reconsider the suspension action and reinstate the remaining four boys, all of whom are reportedly members of prominent and well-known local families.

Dr. Hoover said the suspended pupils could make up for the time lost in the suspension by attending summer school. Singer, in criticizing the Administrative Council's action, said in part that, "The serious charge of insubordination must be completely reviewed so that an injustice may be prevented." He said there was no action "evident" that the pupils were insubordinate according to definition of the word and the intent of the publication "was to satirize conditions in the school as seen through the eyes of some of the students."

Admits Poor Taste

Singer said, "Some of the articles were admittedly in poor taste and the use of profanity elicited sincere apologies from the repentant pupils." However, he said, "It has been said that the few teachers who stressed the need for such drastic measures have been overly sensitive to imagined ridicule and have used the expulsion (sic) as a means of revenge. Authority should be fully cognizant of the responsibilities accompanying its invested powers. One of the duties of a teacher is to instruct in the proper method of doing things. If a pupil does not learn his lesson it is possible that the fault may lie in the method of teaching."

Singer said he was "Looking forward to a more mature and compassionate handling of this

Ruby Barbecued At Dallas Trial, Foreman Claims

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Percy Foreman, echoing Melvin M. Bell's remarks that Jack Ruby did not get a fair trial in Dallas, quit the Ruby defense team Monday and returned home to Houston.

The 61-year-old lawyer said he decided to withdraw from the Ruby case because he was not permitted by the Ruby family to handle the appeal of the conviction alone and in his own way.

"I am not accustomed to conferring with or justifying my course of action to other attorneys," Foreman said in a letter of resignation to Ruby. "I have always worked alone."

Ruby, who declared himself a pauper Monday on his 33rd birthday, was sentenced to death in the electric chair March 14 for the slaying Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Bell, who headed Ruby's defense in a month-long trial, engineered a plea of temporary insanity for the Dallas strip joint operator.

Foreman said Ruby was "barbecued" at the Dallas trial. The Houston attorney took the case only last Thursday after the Ruby family fired Bell, of San Francisco.

Girl Is Judged Ready for Trial On 1962 Charge

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A teen-age girl, confined since 1962 to a mental hospital, will be returned here to stand trial in the kidnap-slaying of a three-year-old boy.

Judge Jacob A. Latona of Erie County Court said Monday he had been notified by psychiatrists at Matteawan State Hospital in Beacon that Thyrrel Jolles, 17, had been judged capable of standing trial on a charge of first-degree murder.

matter on the part of the Administrative Council."

Dr. Hoover declined to comment on Singer's statement. Board member Howard Fox voted against the pay hike resolution for non-teaching school personnel. Singer and member Benson Krom first abstained from voting on the measure then voted in favor of its passage.

Salary Schedule
In the salary adjustments, the board:

Revised the salary regulations now in effect for clerical employees to increments of eight each at $150 for principal account clerk, secretary to superintendent, senior stenographer, payroll clerk, account clerk, typist and stenographer; stenographer (eight) increments to $150; typist (eight) 10 months (seven), both at $125; and offset operator-clerk (one) at $160 and (seven) at $150. The superintendent's secretary maximum of $5,550 calls for an additional $200 for Board of Education minutes.

Approved the salary schedule for cafeteria workers as follows: senior cook manager, three increments, $200 (eight-hour day); cook manager, five at $100; cook and food service helper, three each at $100; part-time food service helper, $150 an hour and $1.60 after three year's service, and school lunch drivers at $1.60 an hour and $1.80 per hour on heavy duty vehicle.

Approved reimbursement at the rate of $4.75 per hour to professional employees on Home Teaching and Adult Education assignments.

Authorized the salary for the art coordinator to be based upon the adopted teachers' salary schedule, plus a differential of $450, and for the salaries of the KHS dean of girls and superintendent of nurses, plus differentials of $300 a year, each, effective July 1.

The Board also set up a step-up schedule for incumbents and new appointees for cafeteria director ranging from step one, $7,800 to step seven, $10,500; business manager in steps one through six, from $7,500 to $11,000; and elementary supervisors in seven steps according to master's degree, professor's diploma and doctorate. A similar schedule was approved for directors on a 10-month basis.

Firemen from Central Station went up the hill to City Hall this morning when trash in a can at the entrance nearest police headquarters caught fire.

Another blaze damaged a motor at the Stuyvesant Motor Hotel, John and Fair Streets. Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw moved the City Hall trash can out of the building and firemen checked the blaze with pressurized water. Engine 1 from Central Station was dispatched on the call at 9:47 a. m. with Capt. Robert W. Hardwick in charge. A motor used to pump oil from a tank to the furnace caught fire in the Stuyvesant. Units from Central, Wiltwyck and the Wicks Company answered a call at 11:14 a. m. The motor was near a Christian Science reading room in the basement on the Fair Street side of the building and caused considerable smoke there. Wiring and winding of the motor were damaged. Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Hardwick were in charge.

FIGHT HYPOKINESIA*

*Hypokinesia—that's the medical term for soft, weak, flabby muscles. Its cause: lack of exercise. And it's a threat to many youngsters. Those who spend long, inactive hours watching television. Those who don't participate in sports. Those who ride when they should walk. Those who have every modern comfort. The physical decline of American youth must be stopped. Parents should insist on nothing less than 15 minutes of vigorous activity every day at school—for every boy and every girl. Contact your school officials. A month-old infant, William Francis Fortin, of 68 Broadway, taken seriously ill at his home this morning, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Benedictine Hospital.

A Fulton ambulance attendant administered oxygen en route to the hospital. The ambulance was called shortly after 7 a. m., and police headquarters was notified.

$18-Million PlanWagner Launches War on Poverty

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner has announced an $18-million program as the first phase of the city's war on poverty.

The initial program, announced Monday at a news conference at city hall, stresses intensive instruction in the three R's of basic education and the creation of fresh job opportunities for persons with limited skills.

The program also calls for a 5 per cent increase in assistance for the 432,551 persons now on relief. The increase, to become effective July 1, is intended to offset in part the rise in the cost of living.

An 18.8 per cent rise in welfare costs is anticipated for the coming year, the city administration disclosed. This will increase public assistance by $67 million a year. For the 1964-65 fiscal year, the projected welfare expenditures will be $423.9 million. This compares with $356.8 million for the current 1963-64 fiscal year and $307.1 million for 1962-63.

Wagner declared at the news conference that these big increases in cost must be checked.

Union Is Ordered To Scrap Bias List

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Commission for Human Rights has ordered a construction union local to scrap its apprentice waiting list and start a new one based on equal opportunity and qualifications of applicants.

The union, which has about 3,300 members and is 76 years old, has never had a Negro member.

It is Local 28 of the Sheet Metal Workers International Association.

The commission announced Monday it had given the local 60 days to throw away its apprentice list and otherwise satisfy the commission that it will "cease and desist from excluding Negroes from membership."

A requirement that an applicant be sponsored by a union member is one of the practices the local has been ordered to drop.

Asks Data on 'Deputy'

ROME (AP) — A Christian Democrat member of Parliament has demanded that the government tell what it plans to do to keep the play "The Deputy" off Italian stages.

The controversial drama by German playwright Rolf Hochhuth, which contends that Pope Pius XII should have spoken out against the Nazi murder of the Jews, has aroused spirited controversy in Western Europe and the United States.

BOURDEAUX, France (AP) —

Positive Hanscom Division Won't Be Shifted to Rome

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says he is convinced the Air Force will not transfer its electronics systems division from Hanscom Field, Bedford, Mass., to Griffiss Air Force, Rome, N. Y.

New York members of Congress have proposed the transfer to keep the Griffiss facility busy, pointing out that eastern Massachusetts is slated for a $60 million space electronics research center.

Kennedy said Monday that, since learning of the suggestion made to the Air Force in February, he had been in frequent contact with department officials.

"Today," he said, "I have once more discussed with the Air Force the capabilities of the facility at Hanscom and have been assured that the Air Force considers Hanscom Field a first-rate installation."

"I feel that the national defense effort can best be served if the electronics system division remains at Hanscom Field. I personally am convinced that this facility will stay at Hanscom."

Resigns After Vote

TORONTO (AP) — Ontario Atty. Gen. Frederick Cass resigned Monday night after Premier John P. Robarts and the Cass' proposal to allow the crime-busting provincial police commission to jail bawdy witnesses without bail, appeal or trial.

The legislature, with Robarts' support, voted unanimously to kill the "police state" provisions of the bill.

Would Award Victims

LONDON (AP) — The British government is proposing to pay compensation to victims of criminal violence.

Home Secretary Henry Brooke told the House of Commons Monday that if the scheme is approved, a board of legal experts will be set up to pass on applications for compensation and decide how much money should be awarded a victim.

He opened a gate and released a rabbit which had been running against the fence making tinkling noises.

But Long Senate Run DueRights Debate No Broadway Prospect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spectators come and go, but the visitors' galleries are rarely more than half-filled as the Senate's civil rights debate drones on.

On the Senate floor seldom more than a half dozen of the 100 members sit around at any time to listen to the long and often legalistic speeches.

What exchanges there have been between proponents and opponents of the House-passed civil rights bill are couched in such gentlemanly language and soothing tones it's sometimes hard to tell they are fighting at all.

As a spectacular, the civil rights debate wouldn't last long on Broadway. With all the parliamentary devices Southern opponents have in store, the controversy is due for a long run in the Senate.

Those senators who do sit around and listen to the debate are, for the most part, at their duty posts. Both sides have lined up team captains who take turns watching out for their interests.

It's not like the old days when senators, filibustering against civil rights, talked about everything under the sun, including their favorite recipes.

The speeches so far have been germane to the issue. But they have, in many cases, embraced long quotations from the Supreme Court on constitutional questions, which, however enlightening they may be for congressmen furnish dull fare for tourists.

Occasionally a senator will sit at his desk signing his mail as the talk goes on. He may read a newspaper or maybe nod, briefly.

The bulk of the members show up only when a quorum of 51 senators is demanded. Once the quorum call is answered, practically all of the senators speed back to their offices.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

GRUENTHER: Gen. Alfred Gruenther, retiring March 31 as president of the American Red Cross, has this advice for Americans:

"Cherish self-discipline, education, individual responsibility and the spirit of voluntary work for the public good."

Gruenther, 63, considered one of the nation's outstanding soldier-statesmen, said in an interview Monday he has a feeling that some American communities "have lost some of their zip."

U.S.-CAMBODIA: The State Department says the United States is continuing to reduce its embassy staff and the number of U.S. dependents in Cambodia.

In addition, Ambassador Philip D. Strouse has returned to the United States for medical reasons, leaving career diplomat Herbert D. Spivack in charge of the U.S. Embassy. Strouse underwent surgery Thursday for a kidney ailment and is expected to require at least three weeks for recuperation.

U.S.-CAMBODIAN relations, already strained, have been harmed further by a South Vietnamese raid last week that overran the ill-defined border with Cambodia. American advisers were with the Vietnamese, bringing a bitter protest from Cambodia to the United States.

SMATHERS: Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., has demanded to know how a Russian-made Cuban helicopter escaped U.S. interception as it flew to Key West, Fla., Friday.

In a Senate speech, Smathers said he had written Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara about the incident. Smathers proposed McNamara go to Key West to investigate and said the people of Florida and the rest of the country are "concerned over what kind of defense we have."

Assails Persons Of Influence in Pushing CR Acts

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Mayor William F. Walsh says it is a disgrace for educators, clergymen and other persons of influence to urge widespread civil disobedience.

Such civil rights demonstrators, Walsh said Monday "do a disservice to our efforts to promote respect for law and order."

"Demonstrations, because they are so often led by persons of responsibility in the community, are doubly dangerous to our young. The disgrace of college professors, for instance, and of some clergy urging defiance of law and order is in my judgment indefensible," the mayor declared.

The mayor commented in a speech at a meeting of the Onondaga County Bar Association. More than 100 persons, including some college professors, were arrested in a series of racial demonstrations here during the last year. Most of those arrested were Syracuse University students. Clergymen also took part in the protests, which were directed primarily against alleged discrimination in housing.

Donations Urged By Finance Group Of Non-Partisans

Public support of the Non-partisan Nominating Committee in the form of voluntary contributions was urged by the finance committee of the Non-partisan Nominating Committee at a meeting held at the George Washington school last night.

Members of the finance committee, which is composed of N. Jansen Fowler, Mrs. Bertha Connelly, Mrs. Fred Holcomb Jr., Reuben Gullian and Doug Meyers, said that donations of as little as one dollar will be gratefully received from any person who supports the aims of the Non-partisan Nominating Committee. These aims are directed towards supporting and electing the most able and best qualified people to the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools, Consolidated.

Donations may be given to any member of the committee, or checks may be mailed to the Non-partisan Nominating Committee, UPO Box 116, Kingston. At last night's meeting several more prospective candidates for the school board were interviewed. Chairman Abraham Streifer announced that due to the number of individuals seeking Non-partisan Nominating Committee support, additional interviews will be held Monday, April 6 at 8 p. m. at the George Washington school. Following these final interviews, members of the committee will choose the three candidates which the committee will support in the annual May election.

Faces New Quiz In Desert Slaying

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (AP)—Jim Vanderham faced a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., today for more intensive questioning about the knife slaying of a vacationing New York couple.

Vanderham, 22; his girl companion, Theresa Robichard, 16, of Fresno, Calif., and the camper truck they were spotted in last Friday were to leave for Arizona if weather permitted. Vanderham waived extradition. None is needed for the girl since she is a minor, officers explained.

According to Maricopa County, Ariz., Sheriff's Lt. Joe Love, neither one "will admit knowing anything about the murders" of John and Mildred Bertella of Sherill, N.Y.

The Bertellas' bodies were found last month near Apache Junction, Ariz.

Vanderham and Miss Robichard were apprehended in the Nevada desert after officers saw them in the Bertellas camper truck.

"Vanderham said he made a 'deal' for the camper," Love said in Phoenix. "But later he admitted he knew it was 'stolen'." They claim they didn't even know the Bertellas were dead.

Fire Destroys Plant
HALLSTEAD, Pa. (AP)—Fire destroyed a vacant plant located parallel to the Erie Monday in this Susquehanna County community.

The two-story wooden structure once was occupied by the Singer Manufacturing Co., a furniture firm, but had been idle for several years.

No one was reported injured. Cause of the blaze was not determined. There was no estimate of damage.

Trans-Jordan adopted its present name of Jordan in 1949.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered losers.

Steels, motors, farm implements, aerospace stocks as well as selected chemicals and rails moved higher.

Airlines encountered some profit taking after their strong rally of Monday. Many took moderate losses.

A lower tone prevailed among oils, drugs and electrical equipments.

The market was mixed at the start, moved cautiously higher on balance and widened its gain moderately.

Some of the "glamour" issues were strong.

The business news background remained good. Brokers said the correction of recent advances had attracted some new buying.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 301.4 with industrials up .8, rails up .2 and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .84 at 814.44.

Prices were generally higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed with industrials tending to decline. U.S. government bonds were slightly lower in moderate dealings over the counter.

OFF WE GO—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Moore, of Port Ewen, are all smiles as they contemplate prospects of dimming time and space through medium of newly purchased aircraft. Moore, an engineer who started flying lessons last April, received his license in August and recently received keys to 1964 Cessna Skyhawk from Carroll Air Company on Flatbush Road. Mrs. Moore, an elementary school teacher, is also learning to fly and will complete her lessons in new "family" plane. Both avid skiers, the Moores plan trips to northeast ski centers as well as weekend trips to Canada and Delaware to visit their parents and friends. Purchase of New aircraft marks first since Carroll Air was authorized as local dealer for Cessna Aircraft Company in January. (Freeman photo)

Scranton Signs Major Part of Jobless Program

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton signed into law today the major part of his unemployment compensation revision program, capping one of the bitterest legislative struggles in recent Pennsylvania history.

"Despite the opposition, I predict now that one year from today an overwhelming majority of the people will be grateful for this change, forward, and that we have taken another step forward in the new Pennsylvania," Scranton declared at the signing ceremonies.

Scranton said the new law, effective July 1, with an increased employer tax rate retroactive to Jan. 1, will achieve three things: "Rebuild the unemployment compensation fund which is desperately in need of rebuilding. Help induce new industry and expand existing industry, providing more jobs for Pennsylvanians. And provide higher benefits for those legitimately eligible for benefits."

60 Will Attend Newcombe Coffee Hour Wednesday

Some 60 women are expected to attend a coffee hour for Republican Senatorial Candidate Lloyd A. Newcombe to be held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Matthews, the former Barbara Krom, 136 West Chestnut Street.

The 10 a. m. coffee get-together is the first in a series planned to get candidate Newcombe acquainted with the voters, and the voters acquainted with Newcombe.

"We are pleased to be able to have the first such get-together for the Republican candidate at our home," Mrs. Matthews said.

"I am sure that when enough people meet and get to know Mr. Newcombe it will be clear to everyone that he is the man to represent us in Albany."

Mrs. Matthews says she has known Candidate Newcombe all her life and feels he is a man who can give the type of honest, aggressive leadership that has been missing in Albany for the past eight years.

According to sources close to Newcombe, coffee hours are planned for every town and district in Ulster County.

"My candidacy is being warmly received, with offers of assistance far beyond anything I had anticipated," Candidate Newcombe said. "That so many busy women such as Mrs. Matthews are willing to hostess these coffee hours to further my candidacy fills me with the deepest gratitude."

Hospital Slates Health Sessions For New Mothers

Every Tuesday and Friday morning on the maternity floor at the Kingston Hospital a health conference is conducted for "new" mothers by a public health nurse of the Ulster County Health Department.

The purpose of the conference is to give "new" mothers an opportunity to observe demonstrations of a baby bath and formula preparation, and to discuss problems in caring for self and baby at home.

Hospital authorities report that mothers attending these conferences have been very enthusiastic about them. "They are informative and assuring," one mother said. "I find the discussion stimulating and very helpful," says another. "Knowing about these conferences in advance gives us time to jot down questions we would like answered," another pointed out.

Police Checking Hub Cap Theft, Vandalism Cases

Local police were asked Monday to investigate the theft of hub caps and damaging malicious mischief.

A report at 10:30 p. m. said a large front window in the David Gill Jr., Inc. building, 222 East Strand, valued at some $300, had been broken by the throwing of stones. Officers Charles Diers and Sheldon O'Rourke investigated.

Mrs. Ward W. Ingalsbe, of 193 West Chestnut Street, reported at 8:55 p. m. that a second-floor window had been broken. Officer Ernest Bartruff investigated and said a storm window was damaged, and a slinging shot could have been used.

A. L. Moser, of 122 Elmendorf Street, reported Monday afternoon that a 100 feet of clothes line had been cut and removed from his property, and a rear garage window was broken by a steel tipped arrow, which was found imbedded in studding.

Charles M. Abernathy, of the Kingston Buick Co. Inc., 10 Main Street, reported at 9 p. m. that four hub caps had been taken from a car in the used car lot.

A Green Street woman reported early today that she had yelled out a window and scared off a group of young men in an apparent attempt to take hub caps from her daughter's car.

Air Force Offers College Training

Young men who enlist in the Air Force now are offered the opportunity to earn credits towards a college education. The opportunity is available to all airmen who express a desire, and the Air Force will pay the larger share of tuition expenses in addition to making necessary arrangements for attendance at a college or university during off duty time.

Many classes are taught on bases by teachers and instructors who represent accredited educational institutions. More than 110,000 Air Force students are currently working towards a college education and it is not uncommon for an airman to earn two or more years credit on a regular enlistment.

Many career motivated airmen are selected for a full time, expense-paid college education and upon completion, are commissioned as second lieutenants.

Complete information concerning educational opportunities in the Air Force may be obtained from S/Sgt. William Rice, Community Theater Building, Kingston.

'Bug' in Food

An analysis of food served last Thursday in a Hudson public school cafeteria when about 50 persons were stricken, his indicated that there was evidence of staphylococci, an infectious "bug" in both the chicken pot pie and the gelatin with cream topping which was served that day to students and teachers. Samples of the food were sent to the State Health Department after about 50 persons were stricken with illness a few hours after partaking of the lunch, and three were hospitalized.

Driver Charged After Passenger Hurt in Mishap

The passenger in a car operated by George E. Williams, 21, of Rt. 1, Box 158, Rosendale, was severely injured early this morning and the operator of the car was charged with operating a car with unsafe tires and failure to keep right. He will be arraigned later.

Alfred Lazzaro, 19, of 39 James Street, Rosendale, was severely cut about the face and head and suffered a broken right leg when the car Williams was driving down Sand Hill Road failed to make a turn at James Street and struck a tree when it went off the west side of the highway.

Lazzaro was taken to Benedictine Hospital where his condition was reported as fair. The accident, which occurred about 12:30 a. m. today, was investigated by Troopers Fred Cooper and Thomas Searles.

General War Is Impossible in Nuclear Age: LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today a general war would be impossible in this nuclear age, and that nations must follow "reasoned agreement instead of ready aggression" in dealing with global problems.

Departing from his prepared text in addressing a labor convention, Johnson said some people often urge him to send in troops when an international crisis flares.

"There may have been a time that the commander in chief could order soldiers to march," at the first sign of a crisis, he said.

But, he said, "The world has changed and so has the method of dealing with disruptions of the peace."

Mentioning some current world trouble spots, Johnson said he hoped some agreement could be worked out with Panama over the Panama Canal dispute, and is hopeful that civil strife on the island of Cyprus could soon be ended by agreement.

U. S. Planners

say, is that many Ranger units were used as ordinary infantry and their special training as antiguerrilla bush fighters was wasted.

Also, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the new strongman premier, is not enunciating any new strategy when he puts forward a plan to "clear and hold" areas now overrun by the Communists.

Viet Cong Returns

As the White House statement of March 17 indicated strongly, South Vietnamese regulars have been able to clear the Communists out of certain areas temporarily.

But the South Vietnamese have not been able to keep the areas cleared, and the Viet Cong slipped back in behind the departed regulars.

The reason for this, U.S. leaders feel, is that the South Vietnamese Civil Guard and other local paramilitary forces in the affected areas have not been of good enough fighting quality.

The aim now is to make these home guard type elements as effective as they can be.

Uncover Krumville Jobs

A series of burglaries in the Krumville area involving summer homes has been uncovered. A check in the area by state police disclosed five burglaries and two youths were apprehended and will be petitioned to Family Court. They are 10 and 11 years of age. Until the owners make a check of the premises the amount of missing articles is unknown. The burglaries were investigated by P. M. Luongo.

Question New Return

All that was involved, Hauff said, was a "very minor discrepancy" which resulted in Baker collecting an additional $11.25 in a $4,420.20 income tax refund for 1961. Hauff said he had talked with Edward Bennett Williams, Baker's counsel, and had been given a copy of the original returns he prepared and signed for Baker.

He said that as he understood it, Baker later thought of another deduction, rewrote the tax return and that someone signed Hauff's name to it but evidently had made no effort to make the handwriting resemble Hauff's.

Hauff said he would have signed the new figures had he been asked to do so.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Both Widow and Son Puzzled About Stocks

Q "My son wishes to invest $900 in stocks. Since I know nothing about investing, I would appreciate your help. A broker has advised him to buy American National Insurance. What would you suggest? I have raised my son alone and also have $5,000 of my own to invest for growth. What should I do?"

A You appear to have done a good job in raising your son, and I should like to commend you for it.

American National is an excellent life insurance company, which is most active in Texas and California. This stock should be fine for your son if he has the patience to hold over a period of time. Selling around 22, American has risen in price 7-fold over the past decade.

For your own $5,000, I recommend three consumer growth companies: General Foods, Procter & Gamble, and Sears, Roebuck. These are strong stocks that lead their respective fields.

Q "I'm a junior in high school. At present, I own shares of United States Lines and would appreciate your opinion of this stock for growth and profit. Also could you tell me something about SCM Corp?"

A You seem to be a very foresighted young person. I have a high opinion of U. S. Lines as a vehicle for growth and profit. The company had lower earnings in 1963 for the second successive year. The stock sells to yield 5 per cent, which indicates that the market considers it a good income provider rather than a growth issue.

I advise you to switch to Texas Utilities, one of the fastest growing companies in its group.

SCM Corp. makes various kinds of office equipment, but I believe it is their relatively new electrostatic copying machine which has doubled the price of the common over the past 7 months. The shares are speculative and should be bought only if you are prepared to assume risk.

Bill Would Hold

separate bills, with variations, to permit students who receive regents scholarships to use them at colleges outside New York State, as well as in the state. The Senate measure would bar use of the scholarships at institutions which practiced discrimination against students because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Fellowships—The Assembly approved and sent to the governor a bill which would permit recipients of Regents' college teaching fellowships for graduate study to use them at any college in the country. They are now restricted to schools in New York State.

Higher Education—The Assembly passed legislation that would preclude the date of the Schweitzer chair in the humanities and an Albert Einstein chair in science at colleges of the state university. The measure appropriates $200,000. It was sent to the Senate.

Would Curb Ticket Abuses

Hypnosis—The Senate approved, 39-18, a bill which would restrict practice of hypnosis to persons with professional qualifications, such as doctors, dentists and psychologists. The Assembly has yet to act.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Award giving has become a spring event as inevitable as the return of the swallows.

Television and allied industries play the awards game furiously, and for a while now the television screens will frequently be peopled with smiling winners, earnestly thanking "the great team that made all this possible."

It is difficult to see how anyone can make voting decisions on "the best" in any of the usual categories. After hundreds of hours spent looking at hundreds of television programs, it is hard indeed even to recall most of the programs.

If I were forced into personal decisions, I would probably pick CBS' "The Defenders" as consistently the most interesting dramatic series; CBS' "The Danny Kaye Show" (which has sharp ups and downs) as my favorite variety hour. "The Dick Van Dyke Show" also on CBS is, far and away, my choice as a really funny comedy series.

In the panel-quiz-audience participation show category, "College Bowl" on NBC has my vote, although for relaxed

All-Kindergarten School

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—This Portage County seat of 11,000 took out some cheap and effective insurance against overcrowded schools three years ago. Instead of tearing down old Walnut School, it kept the vacant six-room building as a spare.

Next fall the old building will make education history in Ohio by becoming an all-kindergarten schoolhouse. Nearly 300 youngsters will be enrolled for half-day classes, and a kindergarten overcrowding problem at five other elementary schools will be solved until the new buildings are available in the following year.

amusement, I enjoy "You Don't Say," on NBC.

Among the public affairs and news shows, my preferences are "CBS Reports" and NBC's "Meet the Press."

Memorable events of the past television year—since last April—all are dwarfed, of course, by vivid recollections of its splendid coverage during the four tragic days starting Nov. 22.

Among the dramatic shows I recall are NBC's "Show of the Week" called "Ride with Terror," a shocker; and "The Case Against Paul Ryker," a two-part drama on NBC's "Suspense Theatre."

The two CBS Bing Crosby specials were especially delightful, and the 60-minute experimental "That Was the Week That Was" in November was lots of fun—although the half-hour series it inspired on NBC has proved a sharp disappointment.

Recommended tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 (EST) — with Carol Lawrence and dancer Rudolf Nureyev.

Poker Bridge Have Differences

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A winning poker player should be somewhat of a pessimist. There is little future in that game if you overplay a doubtful hand.

A winning rubber bridge player should adopt the opposite attitude and bid to optimistic game or slam contracts. It is much harder to defend than to play the dummy.

South's two no-trump bid is certainly a push. He does have ace-king-ace, but his hand appears to represent only three playing tricks with no stopper at all in diamonds.

North's three no-trump call is even more optimistic. He has the same 12 high card points he opened with and while he figures on five club tricks he is not even sure of them.

Three no-trump turns out to be a lay down. East and West cash four diamond tricks and, since the jack of clubs drops, South takes the remainder.

Probably one of the defenders will remark how lucky dealer was to have the diamonds break four-four and there is no argument with that premise.

On the other hand there was no certainty that a diamond would be opened and without a diamond lead the hand figures to make any time that East does not hold four or five clubs to the jack.

Recognizing the Dutch name, Van Der Laag asked to answer the note — and even offered to show Poot the town when he arrives.

20 Seamen Saved As Freighter of Oil Catches Fire

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Twenty seamen were rescued from the Caribbean Sunday night after abandoning the blazing freighter Beth, owned by a New Yorker, and skipped by his brother.

The Liberian freighter World Jonquil picked up the men from their lifeboat and headed for a rendezvous with the Coast Guard cutter Aurora, which was dispatched to bring them to San Juan. They were due today.

The 2,300-ton Beth, which flies

the Panamanian flag, was reported about to sink as she wallowed in seas south of the Dominican Republic, the flames fed by a cargo of lubricating oil and chemicals.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A rise in interest rates seems likely this year in spite of the notable growth in savings which has pumped funds into the investment market.

The cost of borrowing has been going up in Europe and Japan, largely because increasing prosperity there has zoomed the demand for loans from both consumers and business. Also, wages and prices have gone up, and higher interest charges are a prime government weapon in fighting inflation.

FORSEE PROSPERITY

A like rise in U.S. prosperity is widely anticipated as the federal tax cut effects spread through the economy.

In several industries union leaders are stressing that this year's wage demands will be stronger than last. Prices are still holding on most consumer goods, but are rising for some primary commodities and industrial materials.

Housing starts have been unusually strong this winter, presaging perhaps a real boom later this year. If so, the demand for mortgage money may eat into the abundance of funds available.

Inflation hasn't been a force here for several years. Partly this was due to surplus productive capacity of industries, with attendant competition from domestic rivals, along with increasing competition from imports of foreign products.

Expansion Moderate

Business expansion, therefore, has been moderate. Also, much of it has been financed from the internal funds of corporations—earnings from generally rising sales, and cash savings from relaxed depreciation rules that lowered corporate income tax payments.

Now business is signaling a pickup in spending for new plants and equipment. The increase is strong, if still short of spectacular.

But economic growth already had been slowly closing the gap between production and capacity. So this deterrent to inflation is weakening. And if the federal tax cut leads to enough pickup in consumer and business spending to put a real fire under corporate plans for expansion, the need for borrowing will be back, and strong.

The rising interest rates abroad will tend to keep any foreign investment money at home. It might even attract some idle American dollars, thus tightening the domestic money market.

Federal, state and local government borrowing seems sure to increase this year, still further swelling demand for funds.

Contrary to popular belief, no species of snake is slimy.

Health for All

Hic!

They used to be known as hiccoughs. In today's streamlined parlance they're hiccups. However you spell it, the unpleasantness is the same. It can range from surprise and embarrassment to considerable discomfort, depending on how long the episode lasts. A series of five or six may bring a very minor pain. From there on, the pain becomes more noticeable.

Hiccups—caused by sudden spasmodic contractions of the diaphragm—are like hangovers in one respect. Just about everybody has his own sure-fire remedy. The problem is usually in getting the remedy to work a second time.

The history of a man's search for the perfect cure goes back a long way. The ancient Egyptians are said to have come up with such expedients as thrashing the victim's chest or plunging his face repeatedly into salt water. There is no record as to how often such treatments obliterated the host along with the hiccups. Nor do we know what came of the researches by a 16th Century committee of "court ladies and gentlemen" organized to find a remedy for the unnerving attacks suffered by Queen Elizabeth I of England.

But we do know that none of the amateur researchers throughout history has found a panacea. Not even the lady in Akron, O., who early in our own century managed to get free of her own two-day attack by taking a midnight ride on a ferris wheel. If there is a reliable answer, it lies in the direction of holding the breath, either voluntarily or as the result of surprise or fright.

As to the future, it seems most likely that hiccups are here to stay. That's because the principal causes of the spasm are overeating and over-laughing. And homo sapiens, bless his fun-loving little heart, isn't going to surrender either habit easily.

Hollywood
News, ViewsBy ROBY THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tony Perkins is back from a three-year, six-movie European education which included a post-graduate course with Brigitte Bardot.

Says he: "I figured I had reached the pinnacle when I had done a film with Brigitte. How much higher could I go? So I decided it was time for me to come home."

He has returned to Hollywood, where he hasn't made a movie since the sensational "Psycho." He's ready to go back to work here and the studios seem eager to have him. His film-making aboard made him a draw at European box offices, enhancing his stock with American producers who rely on the foreign take for half their profits.

Why did he leave the local scene?

"I can't say I really went to Europe with any plan in mind," he explained. "I went over to make one picture. The reception was so marvelous that I stayed. I didn't do it with any idea of getting a tax break. Far from it—I was paying both American and French taxes."

"I considered it part of my education. I never went to Europe as a kid; we were too poor for that. So I figured I should take advantage of the opportunity when I could. Everybody should go to Europe some time in their lives."

"It was great for me as an actor. There were opportunities I couldn't get here. I worked with Ingrid Bergman, who doesn't come to Hollywood any more. And Orson Welles... Sophia Loren... Brigitte Bardot."

The name Bardot recurs in his conversation. He said working with her was a rare experience. They recently filmed a comedy with the rough translation of "Adorable Idiot." Tony's French has become so proficient that he was able to make the film in that language.

He added the information: "Brigitte speaks excellent English. She speaks it even better than Sophia, and I think she has hidden the fact for self-protection. It allows her to be uncommunicative with Hollywood producers who want to sign her for pictures."

Explains Points in Relaxed Interview

Khanh, Viet Strong Man, Expects To Win Back Red-Controlled AreasBy WES GALLAGHER
A.P. General Manager

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's softspoken strongman premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, said today he expects to win back many areas by the end of this year.

In a relaxed interview with The Associated Press, Khanh ranged over much of South Viet Nam's war effort and political problems, making these points:

He is making a political and economic as well as a military attack on the Viet Cong, and to speed efficient local civil reforms he is giving young army officers special civilian administration training and will use them at the village level.

No Early Solution

On the government bombing of villages, which has killed civilian adults and children and disturbed many Americans: "A difficult problem, sometimes there is no alternative. We can't tell Viet Cong from innocent peasants. No machine can tell us. Sometimes the peasants leave before we bomb but there is no easy solution."

If Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge returns to the United States the Vietnamese people would view this as a great loss but ask "send us another Lodge."

He's Confident

Khanh gave every appearance of confidence that he would be able to reform the government structure, win peasant support which he and others agree is essential to victory, and gain the initiative in this stalemated war.

Khanh answered all questions freely with the exception of whether and how the war might be carried to North Viet Nam. He termed that a matter of military security.

Much of the questioning centered around the problem of winning the peasants to the government side since the Communist Viet Cong hold many rural areas.

This is particularly true of the provinces just south of Saigon where it is dangerous to stray even a few hundred yards from main roads without being shot or captured by the Viet Cong.

Plans Help for Peasants

Khanh said his program of civil reforms at the village level would go hand in hand with military operations aimed at giving the peasants security from Viet Cong terror and attack.

"The difference between the old plan and the new—before, we put security on the same level. The same level with other things. You must give food and good will. This is the main point in the new program. You know McNamara (Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara) is a very nice man—an intelligent man. I told him when he arrived here we have this clear-cut and hold plan. I told him we have all the means, we have the force to clear but we can't hold. By hold I mean not the military or the terrain but I mean hold the population. The objective is the population."

Needs Civil Force

Khanh's program requires a strong civil servant force in the field to administer the hamlets and villages that are captured. Americans have deplored the lack of initiative on the lower levels. Khanh conceded he was having difficulty finding efficient civil servants and said:

"We have weaknesses. We inherited this weakness from the corruption and inefficiency of the Diem regime. The main point is to organize the hamlets. Yesterday I signed a new measure for the new promotion of officers at Thuu Duc (military reserve officer school). When they finish training next month they then go away for two more weeks' training for administration of social and political things. Most of them will be sent to district and hamlet level for administration."

Khanh was asked if he felt he had serious opposition other than the Viet Cong, since many have expressed fear he might be assassinated.

Deeply Split

The general used this question to range over his feeling about the entire political situation:

"On the Viet Cong side—the so-called National Liberation front—they are not all Communists. Some of them have been in the countryside because they were against the Diem regime. But they are split also—deeply split. In six months this split will be definite and bloody, like 1956 and 1957 in Vietnamese ranks."

Military Subject

Asked about North Viet Nam, he said:

"This is a very difficult question. There are many ways we could go. But this is a military subject. We can do many things without an invasion. I have said the best defense is an offensive but what the offense is I cannot say. I am sorry, I cannot answer."

Lodge Real Friend

Asked if Lodge's departure would hurt his administration, Khanh replied:

"Lodge is a friend of the Vietnamese people because of the courage and dignity he showed during the repression of the Buddhists. I have great respect for him. A man like that I do not find much. Of course, we don't want to see him go, but if the United States needs him, he must go. But I ask please give us another Lodge."

Magazine Has Right
To Parody Berlin Songs

NEW YORK, (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Monday that Mad magazine had a right to parody the songs of Irving Berlin and other song writers and that parody was not an infringement of copyright.

The three-judge panel declared the magazine has a right to parody songs because "parody and satire are deserving of substantial freedom, both as entertainment and as a form of social and literary criticism."

Mad's editor Al Feldstein hailed the court decision as "a victory for freedom of expression."

The song publishers remained mad at Mad and their attorney said he would take the case to the Supreme Court.

Jack Ruby Signs
Oath as Pauper

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, who liked to be seen with the rich and the famous, says he is a pauper.

The condemned slayer signed a pauper's affidavit Monday prepared by attorneys Phil Burleson and Joe Tonahill.

The affidavit will allow Ruby to get the official record of his month-long murder trial prepared for the appellate courts at no cost to him or his relatives.

Otherwise, he would have been required to pay an estimated $5,000.

March for Seaport

LA PAZ, Bolivia, (AP)—About 30,000 Bolivians led by President Victor Paz Estenssoro took part in a "march to the sea" Monday to publicize this landlocked nation's demand for a port on the Pacific.

Bolivia wants a port from Chile, which took Bolivia's seacoast after a war in 1879. Chile has rejected the Bolivian demand and diplomatic relations between the two countries are broken.

Defector's Home Is Destroyed by Fire

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Otho G. Bell, who defected to Red China during the Korean War and then returned to the United States, lost his home and everything in it in a fire Monday.

Bell's wife and three of their four children were in the home but escaped unhurt.

Fire Chief Robert Thomas of East Olympia estimated the four-room house was worth about $5,000 and said the Bells had no insurance. The chief said the cause of the fire was not known.

Treasury Official Quits

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Johnson accepted Monday the resignation of Undersecretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, who has held his post since the early days of the John F. Kennedy administration.

Fowler, a native of Roanoke, Va., said in a letter to the President that he wished to return to private life. Several months ago he said he intended to resign as soon as the tax cut bill was enacted.

State Division
Of Vets Affairs
Is Headed Out

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Division of Veterans Affairs is headed for extinction, under the terms of the new state budget.

In allocating $1.4 million to the agency for the fiscal year beginning April 1, the Legislature specified that none of the 190 jobs in the division were to be filled if they became vacant.

If future budgets contain the same provision, the agency would go out of existence gradually, as present jobholders die or leave their posts for any reason.

An effort to abolish the agency on a gradual basis was initiated last year but abandoned in the face of opposition from veterans' groups.

One legislator advocating abolition of the state division pointed out Monday that veterans' counseling services are available from county and federal agencies. He said the state duplicated these services.

He also announced that the pack would have a kite flying contest the latter part of April on a Saturday. This will be a father and son event. Scouts of Troop 60 will also participate in the contest.

While the boys had their Mardi Gras, parents and the committee discussed matters concerning welfare of the pack. A parent meeting is now being held at each pack meeting. Coke and cake brought the meeting to closing which ceremony was handled by the Webelos.

Slate April 3 Date for OCS Registrations

Ontario Board of Education has set Friday, April 3, as the date for registration for the $1,291,000 high school construction bond issue vote on April 8.

Registration will be between the hours of 2 p. m. and 9 p. m. at the four regular voting districts in the district — Shandaken town hall, central building in Boiceville, Woodstock school and West Hurley school.

The board cautions voters to make sure they are registered. Voting at the last annual meeting does not mean automatic registration. Persons who did not sign the register then are not registered for this bond issue referendum.

Qualifications of voters stipulated that the voter be 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States and possess one of the three following qualifications, provided he has been a resident of the district for a period of 30 days next preceding the meeting date:

1) Owns, leases, hires or is in the possession under a contract of purchase of, real property in the district liable to taxation for school purposes; but the occupation of real property by a person as lodger or boarder shall not entitle such persons to vote; (Under the first clause, persons who hold a joint deed or joint lease may each vote.)

2) Is the parent of a child or children of school age, provided such child or children have attended the district school in the district for a period of at least eight weeks during the year preceding such school meeting. (Under this provision, both father and mother may vote.)

3) Not being the parent, has permanently residing with him or her, a child or children of school age who shall have attended the district school for a period of at least eight weeks during the year preceding such school meeting. (Under this provision but one person may vote, namely, the head of the household.)

Qualified voters may vote on any question brought before any annual or special meeting. It is not essential that a person be a taxpayer to vote on propositions for raising money by tax on the district.

There is no provision in the Education Law authorizing the casting of proxy votes or absentee ballots. Voters moving from one poll center in the Ontario district to another should re-register in the new poll center and notify registrar at former address of this change.

Film Showing For Garden Club

A film showing will highlight the opening meeting of the Woodstock Garden Club Wednesday, April 1, at 2 p. m. at the Overlook Methodist Church Hall.

Mrs. Arthur Jones, club president, said Gordon Anderson of Anderson's Hardware store in Woodstock, is making available to the club a film entitled "Roses" produced by the Ortho Chemical Co., and a projector equipped for color and sound.

Chairman of the hostesses, Mrs. Albert Thon, and her committee will serve refreshments during the social hour following the regular program.

Letter Protests Action Taken by OCS Parent Group

The following letter addressed to "protesting parents" was submitted for publication by Merrill Smith of Mt. Tremper:

"What right have you to insult those who will be the teachers and administration of the Phoenicia school? Because it is a new school does that mean they will be below par for educational standards? Not too long ago the schools in Boiceville were new. Were all the teachers hired for those schools and are all the new ones hired each year below the 'present high standard'?"

"Did none of you ever walk to the old one-room schoolhouses in all kinds of weather? And now you complain because your children must ride in a bus for another mile or more for a bigger and better education than any of us ever had—proven by the fact that we are supposedly to believe that the bad road conditions of the Cold Brook Road are the fault of and should be corrected by the Ontario Central Schools."

"Should we not rather be thankful that our children are receiving a regular 'high standard' education while we know that in many other countries and in some parts of our country they are receiving none."

"Too often there are some people who must criticize petty details instead of ever giving a little praise or thanks for the way our administration cope with the tremendous job they have. These people also never seem able to put forth a reasonable alternate for whatever detail with which they are finding fault."

"I know that my own children will continue to receive a high education in this district, whether it be in Phoenicia, Boiceville or Woodstock, wherever the school administration places them. That is their job, not mine, and I am confident that they are doing it to the best of their abilities... MERRILL SMITH."

Offer Teenagers Use of Kleinert

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen has offered use of the Kleinert Gallery to the Woodstock Youth Center group for an exhibition of paintings by noted local artists over the Memorial Day weekend.

The paintings to be exhibited are gifts to the Teenage committee as a contribution toward their drive for funds to build their own youth center. Approximately a dozen paintings have been received to date, according to Youth Center president, Bruce Gilmor, who is on a six-member committee making personal contacts with area artists. Some of the early paintings include works by Anna Carolan, Ethel Ronson, Molly Smith, Dick Jefferies, John Pike and Georges Malkine.

Donation From Chamber

At its March meeting, the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce voted a $15.00 contribution toward refreshments for the opening day Friday, May 29, at 4 p. m. In addition, chamber secretary Richard O. Langham offered to print receipts for contributions to the Youth Center which entitle the donor to a gift of a choice of a painting.

The number of gifts to donors will be determined by the number of paintings given by local artists and the gift recipient must be present to select his choice on the closing day of the exhibition.

Requests for paintings will continue through April when the teenagers hope to have contacted approximately 70 artists. Lists of those offering their works will appear each week along with a sneak preview of the exhibition just prior to the opening.

Several transportation items were dealt with by the Ontario Board of Education at its March meeting.

Transportation authorized or directed up to 10 miles to a parochial school will be granted upon receipt of appropriate written request submitted not later than the first day of April preceding the next school year.

The one exception is that a parent or guardian of a child not residing in the district on such date shall submit a written request within 30 days after establishing residence in the district.

On the matter of late buses (team buses) the Board of Education policy currently states: "Late buses will leave the high school at 5:45 p. m. daily. Any change in this schedule will be announced via the P-A system one day in advance of the change. Buses will transport students on the following routes only: Students must make their own arrangements for getting home from the nearest or most convenient stop on the specified route."

The change in this rule now reads: "Late buses will leave the high school daily. Any change in this schedule will be announced via the P-A system one day in advance of the change. Two late runs daily are authorized when needed to accommodate the after school program. Buses will transport students on the following routes only. Students must make their own arrangements for getting home from the nearest or most convenient stop on the specified route."

Dear Abby . . .

The Long and Short of It!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I wait on tables in a cocktail lounge from three in the afternoon until one o'clock in the morning. I have to wear a very skimpy costume on this job. The hours are rough and so are some of the customers, but the pay is better than I could get anywhere else. Some of the men customers think that just because a girl is wearing a revealing costume she isn't respectable and anything goes. I try hard not to be too chummy with the men, but a sorority waitress doesn't make much in tips. What can I do? Don't tell me to quit working because I am a divorcee with two children, and I need the dough.

CAROL

DEAR CAROL: If you must work, find a job with shorter hours and longer skirts.

DEAR ABBY: Nae and I have been married for 14 years. We have four children and are very happy. Sunday night he got a long-distance call from Binghamton, New York. We don't know anybody there, so naturally it shook me up. Nate was on the phone for half an hour and all he said was, "Uh uh, that's nice" and "Uh uh." When he hung up, he said it was some dizzy dame he knew slightly before we were married. She called him up to tell him she was a free woman now and she wondered if he was STILL married. I am terribly upset. How did she know his number? Should I worry? Would a girl a man knew only "slightly" call him up out of the blue after 14 years?

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Yes, a girl a man knew only slightly could conceivably call him up out of the blue after 14 (or 24) years. She could have gotten his number from a mutual friend or relative, if you aren't in the book. And don't worry. There are plenty of nuts around.

DEAR ABBY: I don't have a very big wardrobe, so my sister and I trade and wear each other's clothes. When I am complimented on something I am wearing, and it isn't mine, what should I say?

HONEST

DEAR HONEST: Say, "Thank you." It's not necessary to mention the owner unless you are asked.

Actor Peter Lorre Dies of Stroke, Was Film Villain

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Lorre, whose soft-boiled egg eyes and whiny voice made him one of the movies' most popular heavies, is dead, victim of a stroke.

The body of the 59-year-old Hungarian actor was found beside his bed Monday by a housekeeper who came to clean his apartment. He had suffered from high blood pressure for years.

Since 1927, Lorre had chilled movie audiences the world over as a master portrayer of the psychopathic killer. Off screen, he was gentle, witty, well-read and the most gregarious and fun loving of men.

Actor Vincent Price, who co-starred with Boris Karloff and Lorre in "Comedy of Errors," called Lorre's death a tragedy. Short and round, Lorre for years adhered to the principle of eating and drinking as one pleases—and absolutely no physical exercise.

A scare in 1959 — when high blood pressure and a sunstroke almost cost him his life in Spain — had slowed him some but not too much.

Clues and Suspicions Are Studied But Sulphur Queen Still Mystery

By TED CRONIN
and
CHARLES L. WEST

NEW YORK (AP)—A winter morning chill lay on the docks at Beaumont, Tex., where Mrs. Edith Martin stood watching the big converted tanker steam down the Neches River.

The date was Saturday, Feb. 2, 1963. Ahead for the SS Marine Sulphur Queen was a voyage to oblivion.

Mrs. Martin had said goodbye to her husband, Adam, 47, an assistant engineer on the ship, "I stood there alone," she recalled, "watching until she passed out of sight. I'm the last one who saw the ship when she put out."

There was nothing then to hint that the Sulphur Queen and her 39 crewmen soon would become one of the sea's mysteries.

Had Dangerous Cargo

The ship, 15,315 tons of molten sulphur in her cargo tanks, entered the Gulf of Mexico. Capt. James V. Fanning, 44, a seaman for 30 years, set course for the Straits of Florida and a five-day trip to Norfolk, Va.

It was the 64th trip of the ship since the 19-year-old World War II tanker was altered to handle the 265-degree Fahrenheit sulphur. She had carried almost one million tons of her specialized cargo without trouble.

Fanning sent a routine departure message.

The Sulphur Queen's two high-frequency radios then remained silent until 9:30 p.m. Sunday when one came to life with a personal message from Willie T. Manuel, a crewman who dabbled in the commodity markets.

He directed his broker in Tampa to order 5,000 bushels of May wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade. The contracts sold for $2.09 a bushel and could have earned Manuel $1,000 had he held them until May 21.

No Response From Ship

But the message confirming the purchase never reached him. Western Union told the brokerage office of Thomson and McKinnon that the ship "has not responded to our radio calls."

There was no alarm. On Monday afternoon, two American merchantmen saw the Sulphur Queen 25 miles southwest of Dry Tortugas, Fla., flying a "not under command" signal. The two black balls, suspended one beneath the other on a halyard, warned other vessels that the ship is not maneuverable. But the internationally recognized signal does not ask for help.

Last Sighting

This was the last known sighting of the Sulphur Queen. The Coast Guard believes the 524-foot vessel sank that day. "She must have gone down like that!" said Rear Adm. James D. Craik with a snap of the fingers.

The date was Feb. 4. Mrs. Ada Heard, whose husband, Aaron, 34, was a wiper on the Sulphur Queen, says:

"I believe it was captured by the Cubans and delivered to the Russians. I believe my husband and the other members of the crew are being held prisoner in Russia."

Suspicion Grows

The suspicion of Cuban involvement frequently was voiced during the search for the Sulphur Queen — only four months after the Cuban missile crisis. The suspicion grew stronger when Russian-built MIG aircraft strafed an American shrimp boat in the straits not far from the center of the search area.

The search for the Sulphur Queen did not start until after she failed to reach Norfolk on Feb. 7.

Within two weeks flotsam began to appear from Miami to the keys — seven empty life jackets, from life rings; altogether some 40 bits and pieces, many of them stenciled with the ship's name.

Clue or Hoax?

But the most intriguing clue — or a cruel hoax — was found 12 weeks after the Sulphur Queen disappeared. A whisky bottle was washed onto a small island off Corpus Christi, Tex., a thousand miles from the Florida Keys. It contained a note on a scrap of brown paper.

On one side was a crudely drawn map showing Cuba and, nearby, an encircled cross, labeled "ship." It bore the message:

"S. O. S. Sulfur (sic) Queen. Help!"

On the other side:

"Our ship was sailing steadily. Suddenly there was an explosion (sic). Two men were hurt. This is all I have to say because I am get—"

Experts thought it unlikely that the bottle could have traveled so far, but said it was possible if propelled by several days of strong southeast winds.

Sidney Goldblatt, an Internal Revenue Service specialist, studied the handwriting and said:

"It is my opinion, the writings were made by Walter J. Pleasant." Pleasant, 44, sailed on the Sulphur Queen as a messman.

With Ethics and Housing Over, Solons Turn to Liquor Prices

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The adjournment - bound Legislature turned its attention to the controversial issue of liquor prices today after bowing to Gov. Rockefeller's demands for action in the fields of ethics and public housing.

The Senate and Assembly both scheduled debate on the Moreland Commission's proposal to repeal state laws that mandate minimum prices on liquor, a move that the commission says would cut prices to consumers by about $1 a fifth.

The liquor industry was bitterly opposed to the proposition, and the measure's fate was considered doubtful.

Rockefeller insisted, however, that the lawmakers act on the liquor bills, together with commission proposals to lift the requirement that taverns serve food and to abolish minimum-distance rules between package stores.

Regains Some Lustre

The Republican governor's battered legislative program regained some lustre Monday when the Assembly dramatically reversed itself and approved the public-housing program it had spurned last Wednesday.

A few hours later, both houses passed their own, less stringent version of the Laporte Committee program for tightening the code of ethics for state lawmakers.

The liquor program posed the last major hurdle to the 1964 session's drive for adjournment.

The official closing was set for 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Rockefeller had insisted that the lawmakers pass his housing program and take "strong and effective action" on ethics before adjourning.

Will Make Deep Study

A Rockefeller spokesman said today the governor would study the Legislature's ethics bill in detail before deciding whether it met his requirements.

The expectation was, however, that the measure would fulfill his demand for action "within the framework" of the Laporte Committee recommendations.

The Legislature's bill omits the Laporte group's toughest proposal—a ban on lawyer-legislators practicing before State agencies or before the State Court of Claims. This was too bitter a pill for the lawmakers to swallow. A majority of the members are lawyers.

Their own version embodies most of the Laporte Committee's demands. This includes a ban on accepting gifts or favors intended to influence legislative action and a requirement to disclose fully any financial interest in businesses subject to state regulation.

The Assembly debated both versions. The Laporte program was rejected by a show of hands, then returned to committee by a vote of 125-21. The legislative version was adopted, 143-3.

The Senate earlier adopted the legislative bill, 56-1. The Laporte program was not brought to a vote in the Senate.

The lone negative vote in the Senate was cast by Buffalo Democrat Frank Glinski, who protested that the Senate was admitting wrongdoing by adopting any ethics bill at all. The fact was, he said, that no impropriety had occurred in the Senate.

But several other senators, although expressing reluctance to adopt the measure, argued that some action was necessary to restore public confidence.

Neither in Debate

Said Sen. Seymour Thaler, D-Queens: "You don't vote against motherhood, and you don't vote against this bill."

The architect of the revised bill was Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney. Neither Mahoney nor Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlini participated in debate on the measure.

Mahoney and Carlini appointed the Laporte Committee last fall to recommend ways of tightening the ethics code after a series of newspaper articles were published questioning the lucrative business activities of prominent lawmakers, including themselves. All concerned denied any impropriety.

The public-housing program was rescued from the legislative scrap heap when 10 GOP assemblymen switched the "no" votes they cast last Wednesday. Three other Republicans who had abstained from voting the first time, including Carlini, also voted "aye" yesterday.

Even so, only 26 Republicans voted for the plan. The final tally was 81-65.

APPEAR WITH MUSIC CLASS—Two George Washington School instrument string players, Stephen Provenzano, left, violinist, and Gene Breton, cellist, combined with Mrs. Burke's music class to play traditional "March of the Crusaders" with Mrs. Perry's sixth grade at assembly on Friday, March 20. These two boys are regarded as outstanding students in music and recently they were guests of Miss Mildred Brady of the Saugerties music department at the concert in White Plains County Center where 10 Japanese string students played. The Japanese students study with Mr. Suzuki, originator of a highly successful method of teaching string instruments to children at a very early age. The youthful Japanese students, who range from five through 12, also performed at the United Nations. For the local performance, the George Washington School orchestra also played under the direction of Miss Roberts. (Freeman photo)

Election Meeting Is Slated Wednesday; B'nai B'rith Women

Details of B'nai B'rith Women's forthcoming rummage sale and installation dinner will be announced at a general meeting scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 25, at the Jewish Community Center.

Election of all officers, trustees and Hudson Valley Council delegates will be the main order of business. A miscellaneous sale, with Mrs. John Levy and Mrs. Arnold Pinsky as auctioneers, will follow. Members should bring merchandise to the meeting or contact either of the sales ladies to arrange for its transportation.

Plans for Wednesday's meeting were completed at a board meeting held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Jerry Cohen. Mrs. William Helmrich reported that the rummage sale slated for Monday through Wednesday, April 6-8, will be held at the former Weisberg store on Fair Street. Contributions of both shoes and clothing are being requested. Store hours will be from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. each day, with additional hours until 9 p. m. Monday evening.

Mrs. Irwin Gellen, outgoing president, announced that the installation dinner, to be held jointly with the men's lodge, will take place Saturday night, April 25 at Broglie's. Co-chairmen Mrs. Walter B. Suskind and Mrs. Charles S. Ronder will reveal all the particulars at the upcoming meeting.

Mrs. Arnold Pinsky, head of the personnel committee for Career Day, announced that this third annual program will be presented for the information and edification of ninth graders on April 14. Each of the more than 700 students will attend three workshops out of a total of 54. Prominent local business and professional men and women will provide pertinent information regarding education, opportunity and salaries in their fields. Mrs. Arthur Kaufman and William Klein are general co-chairmen.

Four delegates from the Kingston chapter attended the Hudson Valley Council's spring conference, held Sunday at the Pines Hotel, Kerhonkson. They included the Mmes. Irwin Gellen, William Helmrich, Edwin Kalish and Flo Powell.

Men's lodge delegates were Seymour Werbalowsky and Arnold Pinsky.

Teachers of French May Attend Vassar Summer Institute

Vassar College, in cooperation with the New York State Education Department, has completed plans for a summer institute for junior and senior high school teachers of French.

From July 6 through August 14, the Institute will offer an intensive program in spoken and written French designed to "simulate the conditions of an actual stay in France." The number of participants will be limited to 20 to assure maximum individual instruction. Extensive use will be made of Vassar's modern language laboratory. Only French will be spoken at the daily luncheons and informal gatherings planned as part of the program.

Applicants accepted for the Institute will be eligible for New York State Education Department grants.

For additional information about the Institute, teachers are urged to write now to: Mrs. Christiane Berkow, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie.

KAMAN WATERCOLOR ON EXHIBIT—A watercolor by James Kaman, art teacher at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School, is included among works now on exhibit at Artcraft Gallery.

First Exhibition of Artwork by Teachers In Kingston Schools Opens to Public

The first Kingston Schools artist-teacher exhibition, on view at the Artcraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, now through April 10, consists of a collection of works by the art faculty of Kingston Consolidated Schools.

Exhibiting are: John Glennon, James Kaman, John Russell, Gabriel Porto, Althea Odell, Karen Aspromonte, Ann Van Bramer, Sandra Snyder, William Slavin, Holland Foster, Violet Coulton, and Diana Dent. These artists comprise the art faculty of the Kingston Consolidated System, and, outstanding in their field, they bring to Kingston their talent both as artists and as teachers.

This exhibition includes representative works as well as those of a more contemporary form of expression. There are non-objective canvases, exuberant in their moving montages of resonant color; these are in contrast to richly eloquent marine, landscape and portrait studies in both expressionistic and representational form.

The watercolor medium is well represented by a group of paintings which bring out the subtle qualities and the sparkle of this difficult medium. There is a wide range of interpretations of the varying moods of nature — sunlight and shadow, the turbulence of storm, and the clarity of sunlight in early morning.

An exquisite collage, combining leaves, burlap and nuances of metallic gold, captures the illusory image of late autumn; and there are woodcuts—highly skilled examples of the graphic arts.

Glazed ceramic tile and natural beauty of free-form pebbles are put to effective and stunning use in a mosaic panel, a bench and table top. Work in ceramics, featuring news forms in flower containers, vases and bowls, shows a skilled craftsman's understanding of the inherent nature of clay as well as imaginative use of the material.

Drawings in charcoal, pastel and oil crayon round out this exhibition and lend to it a delightful variety of visual experience.

Ulster Garden Club And Conservation; Meeting Held Here

Mrs. John Mosher and Mrs. Arthur Bedell of the Fort Orange Garden Club, Albany, addressed the Ulster Garden Club on the topic of "Scenic Roads," at its meeting Tuesday, March 17. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Shultz and the program was presented by the Conservation Committee.

The speakers discussed a project now in progress under the supervision of the New York State Conservation and Public Works Departments for the preservation of historic and scenic roads in the state. The clubs of Zone three of the Garden Clubs of America, have been asked and have submitted lists of roads which in their opinion merit inclusion on a priority listing. Hopefully, this may lead to legislation in the future protecting beautiful and historic roads in New York State, the first to have begun such a project.

The Garden Club, which is interested in conservation in its broadest sense, is always concerned with furthering its cause in all parts of the country. In this connection, members were distressed to hear of the possible construction of a new hydroelectric plan south of Cornwall-on-Hudson in the historic Highlands.

A release from the Ulster Garden Club stated: "It would be particularly sad to have this uniquely lovely, history laden area defaced with a project such as this."

Furthering the cause of conservation on the local level, those attending the meeting were alerted that during the closing sessions of the State Legislature, action may be taken allowing billboards on access roads of the State Thruway. It is therefore imperative, the release states, that all interested in preventing this should write to their representative expressing an opinion against such action.

Eastern Star Visit By Official of District Leaders

Right Worthy Sister Harp presented Right Worthy Sister Esther Martin, Grand Representative to the State of New Jersey. An overflow crowd was present, including delegations from most Chapters in the District and visitors from other Districts.

A degree entitled "Stella by Starlight" was presented by the officers who wore silver crowns and carried fluorescent stars. Right Worthy Sister Mary Greene, past Grand Musician, played two selections on the organ during the degree. "Stella by Starlight" and "When You Wish Upon a Star." Right Worthy Sister Harp and Right Worthy Brother South were presented with gifts from the Kingston Chapter. Sister Frances Dederick entertained with two selections on the harp "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt.

After the meeting, the dining room was decorated in honor of Right Worthy Sister Harp's birthday and she was presented with a birthday cake which was baked by Worthy Sister Helene Edwards. Many birthday gifts were also presented to her by her many friends in Kingston Chapter.

SHOULD THEY HAVE BEEN INVITED?

Q: Two weeks ago we had a business associate of my husband and his wife to dinner at our house. Later that evening intimate friends dropped in unexpectedly. They did not know the first couple but they took to each other almost immediately and we spent a very pleasant evening. I just heard that our friends invited the first couple to their house last Saturday night. I feel very hurt and think that since we were the ones to introduce them, it was discourteous of them not to have invited us too. May I have your opinion?

A: It would have been gracious of them to have included you in the first invitation to the couple they met at your house. However, I would hardly say that they were discourteous in not having done so.

The Minister's Traveling Expenses

Q: I will be married in early June. The minister who will perform the ceremony lives several states away. Must his transportation be taken care of, and if so, does the groom assume this expense since he pays his fee, or does the bride's family?

A: If being married by this minister is your wish, your family ly should assume his traveling expenses. If the minister is the groom's choice, he should pay his transportation as well as his fee.

Wedding Cake at Second Wedding

Q: I am a widow in the late thirties and am going to be married at the end of June. There will be a reception following the ceremony. I had intended to have a wedding cake but was informed that a white wedding cake is not proper at a second wedding. Is this true?

A: You may quite properly have a white wedding cake even though it is your second marriage.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." J. and A. Roofing Company is planning a timely display of the newest and latest materials in roofing and siding. Also of interest to the home owner will be Sears and Roebuck's booth featuring home appliances in the newest colors to compliment the latest ideas in home decorating. The Auto Show will be enhanced by the display of H. F. King. They plan on featuring a display of quality automotive parts, equipment, tools, accessories and services. This year's Home and Auto Show is now in its final planning stages and will be the largest and most varied to be presented yet by the Kingston Lions Club.

Trends in Sweet Baked Goods

Today's shopper finds a variety of sweet baked goods at supermarkets. Sweet baked goods include such products as cakes, cookies, doughnuts, pies, and other pastries. These products, as defined in this article, are exclusive of the mixes and partially prepared items. The number and variety of sweet baked goods available to shoppers is increasing, and they command a growing amount of space in today's food markets. Volume of sales is also rising.

Three forms of sweet baked goods available: The shopper may choose from among three main forms of sweet baked goods in grocery stores. These forms are:

- Prepackaged goods available on grocery shelves and supplied by a commercial bakery.
- Freshly baked goods from a bakery within the store. The popularity of in-store bakeries continues to grow.
- Frozen products.

Sweet baked goods are expensive to manufacture and distribute. Sweet baked goods have increased in price during the past decade but higher prices for the raw ingredients account for little of the increase. Some of the other factors that have contributed to higher costs are as follows:

Delivery expenses and losses due to staleness—Some of these products stale easily, so must be delivered and stocked on store shelves frequently, which adds to cost. Many stores sell stale products at a lower price, thus cutting their profit on the product.

High cost of shelf and store-room space—The variety of sweet baked goods makes it necessary to allot a great deal of shelf space to them. When stores are located in business districts where rents are high, it is wise for markets to occupy as little space as possible.

Refrigeration costs—Refrigeration cost involved in storing, storing frozen baked products help make them expensive. Most frozen baked products are placed in bulky boxes requiring a great amount of expensive refrigerated display space.

At the Markets

Meats—High quality beef abounds. The amount of beef coming to market the first quarter of this year is up about 6 percent over last year. This would suggest shoppers watch for frequent specials. Also, those who own freezers may want to take advantage of the currently low prices on such quick-cooking cuts as steaks. These tend to increase in price during warm weather; now should be a good time to stock up. Both broilers and ducks are good values. March marketing of broilers are about 5 percent above a year ago.

Fish and Shellfish—Supplies of fresh fish will be large during the last week of Easter. Consider the fish, porgies, and shad, up in supply. Other suggestions include butterfish, cod, haddock, flounders, bluefish, mackerel, sea bass, striped bass, swordfish, and whiting.

Shellfish to consider include clams, hard crabs, crabmeat, lobsters, mussels, bay and sea scallops, and squid.

Vegetables—The very first of the nearby, outdoor-grown vegetables has come to market—dandelion greens from New Jersey made their debut about 2 to 3 years ago. Radishes are at rock bottom prices wholesale; this should be reflected in retail prices. Other leading vegetable choices include broccoli, cabbage, carrots, dill, endive, escarole, iceberg lettuce, leeks, parsley, spinach, sweet potatoes, green Italian squash, and Maine potatoes.

Coffee—Coffee cost around 10 cents more per pound at retail in mid-March than in early January.

Junior Marrieds Here Have Busy Schedule; List Spring Agenda

Although winter still held sway outdoors, a tropical atmosphere prevailed at the YWCA Thursday evening at the meeting of the Junior Married Women's Club. Miss Mary Polhemus presented a program on Hawaii and club members wore costumes in keeping with the Hawaiian theme. Miss Polhemus showed slides taken during her stay in Hawaii and commented on her experiences while teaching there.

This was followed by a demonstration in costume of the hula by Mrs. Richard E. Joseph, a member of Junior Marrieds. The program ended with a "sing-along" of Hawaiian songs with Miss Polhemus providing the accompaniment on the ukelele. Refreshments for the meeting were served in a Hawaiian setting by the hostesses for the evening, the Meses, Frederick E. Burnett, Joseph F. Meyers, E. Ronald Rosenberg, Howard J. Stauble and David A. Van Etten.

Mrs. Henry P. Elghem, president, announced several events which concern the entire membership of the YW. On Sunday, April 12 a mock conference will be held at the Y from 3 to 5 p. m. April 24 is the date of the spring rummage sale at the Weisberg building from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Junior Married members are urged to contribute to the sale by leaving items at the Y at any time before April 23.

On Saturday, May 2, there will be the annual anniversary-membership luncheon at the Fair Street Reformed Church at 1:30 p. m.

Junior Marrieds will have their annual dessert card and game party at the YW on Thursday, April 16 at 8 p. m. This is open to the public and tickets may be obtained from any club member or at the door.

Players are requested to bring their own cards or games by Mrs. William B. Merrill, card party chairman.

Club members are reminded to take special notice of the YWCA Forecast for April as there are many details of Junior Married activities that require their close attention and which are fully covered in the Forecast.

Plans for the spring dance are in progress and complete details will be announced soon by Mrs. Herbert H. Reuner in a collection of used or new toys, books, games and other playthings for the Cerebral Palsy Center. Members are asked to bring these items to either the April 2 or May 7 meetings. This is an exceptionally worthwhile project and merits the support of every member of the club.

Mrs. Vernon Outwater will assist Mrs. Reuner in this project. Mrs. Frederick F. Burnett, program chairman, announced that the next meeting on April 2 called "Shape Up for Summer" is under the direction of Mrs. Joseph H. McCann Jr., former executive director of the YWCA.

It is suggested that members who plan to participate in the program wear slacks or other suitable exercise clothing.

County Art Group Will Hear Pike

John Pike, noted Woodstock artist, will address members of the Ulster County Art Association, Tuesday, April 7, at the Artcraft Camera Center Gallery, Broadway.

Members of the Little Sawyer Arts and Crafts Guild of Saugerties have been invited to this meeting. Members of the association also may bring guests. Pike was given the Kingston Newspaper Guild's art award as a Page One winner in 1959.

Pike will show a film on watercolor technique during the meeting which starts at 7:30 p. m.

Joan Delays Departure

PARAMARIBO, Surinam (AP)—Mrs. Joan Merriam Smith, Long Beach, Calif., housewife, ran into more mechanical trouble today that caused her to delay her departure for Natal, Brazil, the next stop on her solo around-the-world flight.

Mechanics were investigating a possibly leaky gas tank on her twin-engine plane. Monday they replaced the sparkplugs and worked on the magneto.

Rummage Sales

Gem Society

The Gem Society of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale Friday, April 3 at 8 a. m. in Epworth Hall.

Articles of clothing will be received at the hall on Thursday evening at 7 p. m. Clothing will be picked up from any one unable to bring them to the church by calling Mrs. Goldie Lansperg or Mrs. Alma Macholdt Thursday, April 2.

Chairman of the by-laws committee Bruce Burgher, reported that the committee had met at his home and reviewed the present by-laws. He read the suggested changes and the by-laws, with recommended changes, will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Plans were made for a May Festival Dance to be held Saturday, May 23 at Ang-El's Restaurant on the East Chester Street by-pass. Serving on the dance committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gorsline, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Swift, Mr. and Mrs. David Mitchell, Mrs. Freda Martense, Mrs. Ann Brugniolotti, Bob Ohlson, Pat Clausi and Jim Kennedy.

Guest speaker for the evening was John Schick, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Executive Committee. Mr. Schick explained that these meetings are held in various towns throughout the county. Each ward and township has delegates to this committee. It is the responsibility of these delegates to advise their districts of all proceedings and activities. The sole purpose of the Executive Committee is to keep the delegates informed of actions and activities of the Ulster County Democratic Party. These meetings are open and informal.

Mr. Schick also spoke briefly on the upcoming candidates for the June election and urged all Democrats to work diligently for their party.

The next meeting is slated for Thursday, April 16 in the Lake Katrine Grange hall.

Paltz Woman Fair, Caught Between Cars

A New Paltz woman was reported in "fair" condition today at Benedictine Hospital where she was brought by the New Paltz Fire Department ambulance Monday night after she had been caught between two cars and suffered a broken leg and possible fractured pelvis.

Mrs. Caroline Terwilliger of Cherry Hill Road, New Paltz, and two friends had planned to go bowling. Mrs. Terwilliger and Mrs. John DeAngelo arrived in the DeAngelo car which was driven into a driveway and parked. Mrs. William George parked her car on Harrington Street and while Mrs. Terwilliger was talking to Mrs. George, the DeAngelo car moved down the driveway grade and Mrs. Terwilliger was caught between the DeAngelo and George cars.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Joseph Thompson of the New Paltz Police Department.

Almost 2,000 miles of toll-free autobahns now exist in West Germany.

Annual Classic Will Be Limited To Eight Teams

The Kingston Basketball Tournament Committee has announced Thursday, April 2, as the starting date for the 11th renewal of this widely recognized post-season classic.

The field will be limited to eight teams screened by a selections committee and is expected to bring to Kingston the best basketball talent in the Hudson valley region.

Five different counties are represented in the early entries. Ray's Tackle Shop, the YMCA leaders in Kingston, will represent Ulster County.

George Steutzel's Pine Plains Bobbers, a perennial entry, will carry the Dutchess county banner. Unconfirmed reports have it that Steutzel, always on the prowl for "name" talent will have Nick Werkman, Seton Hall's all-time scoring great, in the Pine Plains lineup.

Three other entries are: Albany Law School, Albany; Nyack Bombers, Rockland County; and Pelham Lincoln-Mercury of Westchester county.

It was the opinion of the tournament committee that an 8-team tournament, carefully screened, would be easier to operate and would have greater fan appeal. It would eliminate the lopsided scores that feature the first round contests.

The committee hopes to have eight different counties represented in the final lineup but will settle for 6, 7 or 8.

The Albany Athletic Club, defending champions, are expected to be in the field. Albany county produced the tournament champion and third place team in 1963. Albany teams are always attractive entries since they lean heavily on Siena College and capital district colleges.

Clay Syndicate Would Not Take Legal Action

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Cassius Clay's manager said Monday the syndicate backing the heavyweight champion will protest, but plans no legal action if the World Boxing Association strips Clay of his crown.

"I think we would protest vigorously, but would take no legal action to fight the action," William Faversham said in Salt Lake City.

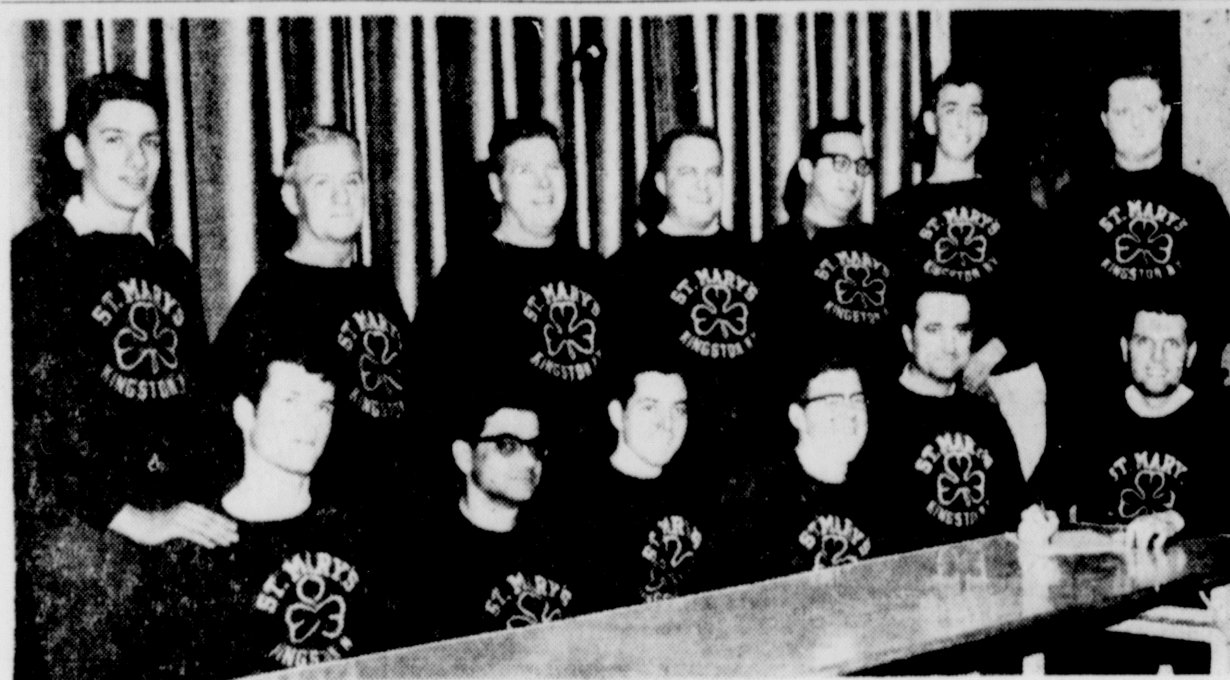

"Cassius, no matter what the WBA rules, is the heavyweight champion because he beat Sonny Liston decisively," Faversham added.

Glasser, Farley

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Chairman Robert A. Glasser of Eggertsville, Erie County, and James A. Farley of New York City have been nominated by Gov. Rockefeller for new terms on the State Harness Racing Commission.

Rockefeller sent the nominations to the Senate Monday. Confirmation is expected.

Glasser's term would expire Feb. 1, 1970 and that of former Postmaster General Farley on Feb. 1, 1968. Glasser's salary is $25,200 and Farley's $18,375.

Toughies Coming to West Point

By Charles J. Tiano
Freeman Sports Editor

With three major opponents listed for next fall at West Point, the U. S. Military Academy has taken a giant step toward juicing up the home football fare.

Actually there are four major opponents, since Boston College is scheduled to come to West Point for one of the major eastern powers.

The Big Three visiting the plains this year will be Penn State (Oct. 10); Duke (Oct. 24) and Pittsburgh (Nov. 14). The fourth major "home" game is scheduled against Syracuse at Yankee Stadium on Nov. 7. This has become more or less a fixture on the Cadets' slate.

Army athletic authorities have been criticized through the years for bringing minor and non-descript teams to West Point but there are mitigating factors. What the man in the street doesn't always realize is that Army is constantly under pressure from congressmen and senators anxious to have their home state colleges or universities play against Army either home or away. Thus it is that The Citadel will open the 1964 season at Michie Stadium on Sept. 19.

Booked With Texas

The two major road engagements are against the University of Texas' national champions on October 3 and against Navy at Philadelphia in the seasonal finale on Nov. 28. The Army-Navy contest, of course, is always played on neutral grounds, with the mammoth Philadelphia stadium the locale for the past several seasons.

Several years ago the academy authorities revealed plans to increase Michie Stadium's seating capacity from its present 29,000 to about 55,000. This expansion program was to have been tied up with the construction of the state thruway but the plans, still on the drawing boards, have been shelved. A 55,000 home capacity would have insured only major opponents at West Point, congressional pressure notwithstanding.

KINGSTON (PA.) YOUTH RESTING IN KINGSTON

A 17-year-old youngster named Mark Estock, who hails from Kingston, Pa. is confined to the Benedictine Hospital with a broken leg. He's been there ten days now and since his leg is in traction, he's going to be bedridden for some seven more weeks.

Estock is a member of the Belleaire Ski Club and the story of his plight was passed along from Art Sullivan and Jim Luther of the club. The Pennsylvania lad, according to Sullivan, is a quiet, well-spoken high school youngster who had his bright future temporarily clouded by his collision with a tree just off the racing trail at Belleaire. He is, incidentally, a topnotch racer.

"The kid is some 100 miles or so from home in a strange town. Might be a nice gesture if you could find time to drop him a letter or card at the Benedictine."

ADVENTURE IN AUGUSTA DURING MASTERS PLAY

For one week in 52, Augusta, Georgia, bulges with an economic pregnancy that golf brings to no other community. That is the week the Masters is played in this normally tranquil southern city. The full effect of this tournament on Augusta is chronicled in the April issue of Golf Digest magazine. Furman Bisher, nationally known figure in sports literature and sports editor of the Atlanta, Ga. Journal tells how some fine homes in Augusta rent for from $500 to $1,000 for the week; how an endless parade of social gatherings, clog the week-long Augusta calendar. It is, he says a wild, wild week.

Auerbach Admits Strong Desire For Classrooms

BOSTON (AP)—Like to be the most successful coach in professional basketball history?

Arnold (Red) Auerbach—self-assured owner of the label—would rather be a schoolteacher. Driven by a fierce desire for success, the cigar-smoking whip hand behind Boston's six National Basketball Association championships is many things to many people. He is called a dictator, tactical genius, referee-baiter, frustrated actor.

But a teacher? Never.

That's how little is known about the man whose 18 NBA seasons—nearly 1,400 games and over 890 victories are all-time records.

"I love teaching," Red confesses from under the fading, receding fringe of hair. "If the salaries had been somewhere near comparable I never would have left the classroom."

"I made $1,900 that year," Auerbach says. Some of the students picked up $2,700 working part-time in the shipyards. When I returned after the war I was offered step-up raises for the time I was away and a bonus. It came to $2,900.

"I just couldn't make a go of it."

Two Long Strains

So Auerbach turned to the game he played at George Washington University.

It's no accident the two longest winning streaks in the NBA—17 games each at Washington in 1946 and with the Celtics in 1959—were put together under Auerbach's direction.

At 47 he still demands unflinching pride, teamwork, hustle and obedience from his players.

The payoff, in part, has been eight straight Eastern Division titles.

Although champion-maker Bill Russell has been the Most Valuable Player choice of his fellow NBA athletes several times, there are no super-stars with gaudy averages on the Celtics. Only one Boston player, John Havlicek, currently is in the league's top 10 scorers.

"What do I care about statistics and points? You give me the championships and you can have the All Star teams," Auerbach says.

New Rule Boosted Game Time, Led To Bigger Scores

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The new rule of stopping the clock on all violations led to record-shattering scoring and shooting on the national basketball scene this season.

It all came about mainly because the new rule increased playing time of games by about 5.5 per cent.

A research committee report of the National Association of Basketball Coaches shows that four records of the modern era, since 1948, were established.

Based on averages and percentage for both teams in each game, the new marks include:

Percentage of field goals made—426, the highest in the history of the game; number of field goals scored—57.3; percentage of field goals and free throws made—495; and points scored—148.8.

In every major statistical category, except one, their were increases over the 1962-63 season. The exception was in percentage of free throws made. It was .680 this season compared to a record-setting high of .682 last year.

The trend data compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau was made available by Edward Steitz, athletic director of Springfield Mass. College and chairman of the research committee.

It also showed increases of 7.7 per cent in number of field goals scored per game, 7.1 per cent in points scored, 6.9 per cent in personal fouls, 5.2 per cent in free throw attempts, and 5 per cent in free throws made.

The Midwest was the leader in total points scored per game with 160.0. The Far West, which produced the NCAA champion UCLA was lowest with 141.0.

Racing Will Get Tax Concession, Tighter Scrutiny

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Racing Association appeared almost certain today to win final legislative approval for renewal of a $6-million tax concession. But the NYRA also faces the prospect of tighter scrutiny of its fiscal affairs.

The Senate agreed unanimously Monday to renew the concession. The bill granting the renewal was sent to the Assembly for concurrence.

The bill, supported by Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, would continue for 14 years a concession granted in 1957 and originally slated to expire in 1965.

When continuation of the concession was sought earlier this year, Sen. Seymour R. Thaler, D-Queens, accused the NYRA of awarding contracts without competitive bidding and criticized the association's financial practices.

This led to revision of the program.

Under the new plan, the financial operations of the NYRA are subject to audit by the state comptroller and the association would be required to obtain competitive bids for building and improvement contracts.

In addition, the association's franchise fee would be tripled, to $3,000 a day. This increase would bring the state $500,000 a year.

In a related development, the Assembly approved and sent to the Senate a bill that would permit the financially ailing Finger Lakes race track at Canandaigua to reduce its admission fee to $1, including taxes. Present law fixes the minimum at $1.50. The track was suffering from poor attendance.

Sharkin Tandem In Pocket Lead

The Joe Sharkin-Al Seelbach combine, with 3 wins and one loss, leads the Frank Bruno-Lou Levine tandem by 15 balls in the Senior Billiard League at the Uptown Billiard Parlor. The leaders have 1044 points to 1029 for the runnerup.

In last night's matches the results were: Chris Rienzo over Aaron Bahl, 100-68; Lou Alcon over Bill Martini, 100-63; Ed Cherny over Joe Clausi, 100-45; Bob Planthaber over Ed Bahl, 100-33; Ron Ferraro over Mike Squeo, 100-61; Jake Senor over Gene Berardi, 100-73; Frank Bruno over Milton Bahl, 100-80; David Eyles over Joe Sharkin, 100-94; Lou Levine over Ben Sherman, 100-75.

Spinneweber Tops KHS Jayvee Club

John Spinneweber was the leading scorer for the Kingston High Jayvee club, which ended its season with a 13-5 record. Spinneweber tallied 211 points in 18 games for an average of 11.1 per start.

Coach Mike Rienzo's hoopers averaged 50 points a contest while allowing the opposition only 38.8. Losses in the 18-game slate included a pair to Monticello and one each to Newburgh, Port Jervis and Mont Pleasant.

Craig Tells How He Kept His Head With Mets

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Roger Craig, baseball's biggest loser for the last two years, was telling about a heckler.

"It was at a banquet this winter," the St. Louis right-hander said. "This guy got up and he was riding me pretty good. Heck, I'm not ashamed of the way I pitched and I couldn't stand this guy taking me apart. So I just got up and said: 'You know, I'm the only two-time 20-game loser who got a raise both years.'"

"That quieted him down."

Craig uses the story to illustrate how he kept his head while he was pitching for the New York Mets. In 1962 Craig had a 10-24 record. Then things got worse. Last season he was 5-22, tying a National League record by losing 18 games in a row and tying a major league record by losing five 1-0 games.

He came to the Cardinals in a trade for outfielder George Altman.

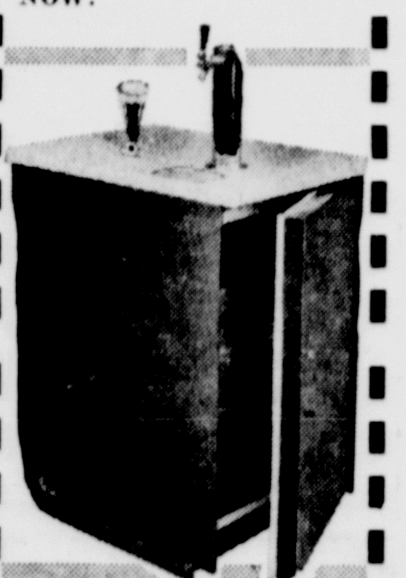

"Sure I took it home with me," said Craig. "A lot of ball players exaggerate and they tell you nothing bothers them. I'm married, and if I couldn't discuss it with my wife, who could I discuss it with?"

"But there were good moments too," he said. "I'll never forget my girl—Sherril, she's 11—jumping down and grabbing me and kissing me the night I broke my 18-game losing streak."

Early Home Run Spree Hints Big Year for Bill Skowron

Bill Skowron has been plagued with problems throughout his baseball career. Now he's with the Washington Senators.

He got there the hard way, starting with the then world champion New York Yankees, stopping off at the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers and finally tumbling to the cellar-dwelling Senators.

Despite the change in atmosphere, the 33-year-old first baseman is willing to accept his fate, at least for the present. He feels if he can get off to a good start this season, he can help not only the Senators but also himself.

His performances of the past two days haven't hurt that thinking any. He slugged a pair of two-run homers Monday in powering Washington to a 7-3 triumph against the Dodgers. That gave him three home runs in two games following his return to the line-up.

Skowron, whose injury record reads like the AMA journal, sat out six days with a bad back, his most persistent ailment.

First Since Trade

The appearance of the 6-foot, 197-pound veteran against the Dodgers was the first since he starred for them in their World Series sweep of the Yankees last fall. He had five hits, including a home run, for a .385 average and knocked in three runs in the Series.

That showing was almost as surprising as the Dodgers' four-game rout. During the regular season Skowron batted .203, hit four homers and drove in 19 runs, all career lows. He played sporadically, being used as a pinch hitter much of the time. Whereas injuries had hampered him in previous years, marital difficulties interfered with his playing in 1963. His ordeal was punctuated by a

Trenton Classic Slated April 19

TRENTON, N. J. — Major league racing, sanctioned by the U. S. Auto Club (USAC) and showcasing the Indianapolis 500 drivers and equipment will mark the official opening at the 1964 Trenton Speedway schedule on Sunday afternoon, April 19.

This was announced by Sam Nunis, the veteran promoter of motor competition at the New Jersey State Fairgrounds, home of the one-mile paved Trenton Speedway on which the world record last September was established by Scotland's Jim Clark.

Nunis stated, "The seventh annual Trenton 100 which has always signalled the start of the national championship series of races which are presented throughout the United States on major speedways, from the early spring through late fall, opens our season."

He added, "I expect the steadily increasing attendance here at Trenton, reflected in a record crowd last April, will continue, especially with such tremendous interest shown in the many new rear-engined cars that are reported completed since their construction was started last autumn."

SAUGERTIES NEWS

VFW German-Irish In Basic Training Night Features Listed for Apr. 4

Selection for a weekend at the New York World's Fair and the possible crowning of Miss Loyalty will climax the two hour stage entertainment at the Saugerties High School Auditorium April 4 during the VFW sponsored German-Irish Night.

The show will start at 8 p. m. featuring a half-hour of the jigs, reels and piping of the Barrett Dancers and Pipers of Roosevelt, L. I., followed by a half hour of the Bavarian folk dancing by the Kingston Schupplattlers.

Miss Saugerties, Jane Markovskiy, will do a French-Russian-Arabic routine which she will present in July as her talent entry in the Miss New York State contest, a Miss America preliminary.

Following a brief intermission, the program will conclude with another half-hour each of the two dance groups, ending with the selection of a winning ticket stub entitling the bearer to a weekend at the coming fair.

Announcement will be made of the nine winners in the recently completed essay contest in which 80 students from grades 4 through the high school competed. Those essays are now in the hands of the judges, Miss A. Frances Larned, Mrs. Paul Kruger and the Rev. Frederick Imhof, who will select a grand prize winner to be the grand parade marshal and also a recipient of a weekend at the fair. If present, she will then be crowned or he will be honored.

Co-chairmen Edwin Mower and Isabel DeCelle appeal for public support of this German-Irish program, since this is the only means of raising the more than $1,000 budget to cover the prize awards and to finance the Loyalty Day parade.

They also express their thanks to the local merchants and organizations who generously supported the journal subscription. This journal incorporated with the program will be distributed the night of the show to those attending.

Appreciation is also extended to the Art Department of Saugerties School which, under the guidance of Keith Hubbard, will supply an appropriate backdrop for the show.

Members of the senior high class will be on hand to sell refreshments during the intermission to supplement their own treasury for graduation needs.

Tickets are available from any Post or Auxiliary member or by contacting the ticket chairman, Mrs. Helen Gardner on Barclay Lane, or at the door.

Apaches Win Flag In Dart League: 2 Vie for Fifth

Katsbaan Apaches with a 3 to 0 win over Malden-West Camp Vols Monday night clinched the Saugerties Dartball League pennant with the final three games to be played next Monday.

Second place Service Center Bees were upset 2 to 1 by High Woods Sportsmen Club and still have not eliminated the Golden Eagles for the second slot. The Eagles who meet High Woods next week, won a 2 to 1 split from Centerville Vols.

West Camp Palatines consolidated its fifth place position by blanking VFW 3 to 0 and closed in on the Legionnaires who were idle. The Legionnaires meet Katsbaan next week and must protect their one game lead over West Camp for the fourth place slot.

West Camp and Quarryville fight it out Monday for fifth place, the last spot for eligibility in the play-offs.

West Camp needs one game to clinch fifth place. Quarryville needs all three to eliminate the Palatines. The Quarrymen eliminated Centerville 3 to 0.

The second, third, fourth and fifth place teams in the final standing meet in the play-offs. The play-off winner is pitted against Katsbaan for the league championship.

Other results:
Southside Men 2, Cementon Sportsmen 1.

In the eastern half, relatively mild temperatures and predominantly clear skies prevailed. The storm contained winds which gusted up to 50 miles per hour in some areas, reducing visibility to less than one mile. A blizzard raged over the Red River Valley, drifting snow in the eastern Dakotas and western Minnesota.

Cold wave warnings were in effect for Minnesota, northern and western Iowa and eastern and south central Nebraska. Temperatures plummeted far below zero in Montana. Lewistown reported the mercury at -18 and dropping. Cutbank reported -14, Great Falls -11 and Billings -8.

Flagstaff, Ariz., reported 3 inches of new snow, bringing the accumulation to 14 inches. Torrential downpours created more havoc in the Glendale area of Los Angeles, which was hit with destructive brush fires last week. A four-foot wall of mud loosed by the rainfall oozed into fashionable homes and blocked highways.

High winds moving ahead of the storm created vast dust storms in portions of New Mexico, reducing visibility to less than one mile. Wind gusts up to 57 m.p.h. pounded Pierre, S.D.

Showers and thundershowers rumbled from Texas through the Ohio Valley. Strong winds and snow flurries prevailed from the upper Mississippi Valley and northern Great Lakes.
